Man Shot, Girl Beaten

Bandits Flee Through Police Line

MONTREAL (CP)—An unarmed passerby was shot in the stomach and a girl cashier suffered a fractured skull from the blows of revolver butts during the brutal armed robbery of a suburban caisse populaire (credit union) Thursday by four armed and hooded men.

Chemainus

Up-Island Crash Kills City Man

A Victoria driver was killed late Thursday when his car went out of control on the Trans-Canada Highway at the intersection of the Chemainus and Somers Road.

Leo Robert Marceau, 36, of 3372 Tillicum Road, was thrown 12 feet from his car after it struck a guard rail, bounced off a concrete abutment and cleared out a guard rail on a bridge between Chemainus and Duncan.

Chemainus RCMP said the car travelled about 300 feet, ending up by slamming into a pole.

This stretch of highway was limited to single-lane traffic due to construction.

Mr. Marceau was alone in the car travelling south from Crofton pulp mill.

He is survived by a wife and one child.

Time of the accident was about 11:40 p.m.

'Flying Lab' Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The federal space agency Thursday night called off plans to shoot a "physics lab" satellite into orbit today. The shot was rescheduled for Saturday.

A space agency spokesman said the launching, which earlier had been advanced from June 2, simply could not be readied in time.

'Relatively Junior Post' on Truce Team

Martin Says Viet Nam Critic Failed to Get Big Picture

OTTAWA (CP)—Criticism by a former air force officer of Canada's role in Viet Nam may have arisen from his "relatively junior" post on the international truce supervisory commission, External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday.

He told the Commons that former Squadron Leader H. H. Campbell, now civil defence coordinator of Campbell River, may not have formed a "comprehensive view" of the work of the commission manned by Canada, India and Poland.

Mr. Martin was responding to a request from Social Credit Leader Thompson to give an answer to statements by Mr. Campbell that Canada took a weak-kneed and jelly-spined stand on the commission.

Mr. Campbell charged that

Canada showed favoritism to the United States in its role on the commission. He served in Viet Nam in 1961 and 1962.

Mr. Martin said that "within the provisions of the Official Secrets Act" there is no objection to former officers stating their personal views.

However, he found it hard to see how anyone could say Canada hadn't taken a balanced view in commission reports when this country had referred to violations by Viet Nam of the Geneva agreement establishing the truce.

He said "most officers" who served on the three commissions in Indochina did great service to their country and the cause of peace.

Laurentide Out Again

OTTAWA (CP)—For the third time this session, legislation to incorporate the Laurentide Bank of Canada was tabled out Thursday in the Commons in the hour set aside for private members' bills.

Berlin's Thousands Roar Royal Welcome

Pope Plans Poland Visit First Trip to Red State

WARSAW (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will visit Poland next year to help celebrate the millennium of Polish Roman Catholicism, church sources said Thursday.

The sources said the Pope will arrive in Poland May 3, 1966, and will visit Poland's Roman Catholic shrine of Czestochova. It would be the first visit by any Pope to a Communist country.

BERLIN (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II got a rousing welcome to West Berlin Thursday. She took a look at the Communist wall dividing East and West Berlin and as thousands cheered pledged British support for West Berliners.

About 500,000 West Berliners lined the route of her six-hour visit behind the iron curtain to give the British monarch the most enthusiastic greeting of her 11-day tour of West Germany, which ends at Hamburg today.

She drove past the wall and got a smart salute from Red army soldiers at the Soviet War Memorial. She did not enter East Berlin.

INSPIRATION

At the city hall on John F. Kennedy Square, she told West Berliners their courage was "a glowing inspiration to the whole free world."

Cheered by 100,000 people massed in the square where the late U.S. president Kennedy made his famed "I am a Berliner" speech June 26, 1963, she pledged the continuing support of the British government and people for West Berlin's struggle against Communist encroachment.

The Queen said: "Nowhere is the tragedy of a divided world made more evident than in this city. The courage and persistence of the people and your tremendous achievements in spite of this are an inspiration to the whole free world."

Alaska Shaken

Arabs Reject Israel Talks

Bourguiba Out in Cold

CAIRO (UPI)—Arab League proposals for negotiation with Israel were rejected Thursday by President Habib Bourguiba's ministers' conference, which was boycotted by Bourguiba, also announced determination to uphold the resolutions of the two past Arab summits calling for the liberation of Palestine.

Israeli Raiders Hit Three Jordan Towns

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli raiders attacked three Jordanian towns early today in retaliation for alleged "acts of sabotage" on Israel earlier this week.

An Israeli military communique said seven Israeli soldiers were injured when a hand grenade accidentally blew up while the raiding parties were returning to their base.

"Our forces completed the task in three sectors and accomplished their objectives," the communique said.

Informed sources said Syria proposed that Tunisia should not be invited to any future Arab bloc meeting until Bourguiba withdraw his statements. This proposal also was accepted.

EXPULSION ASKED

Earlier, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization asked the premiers to expel Tunisia from the Arab League.

Ahmed Shukeiry called for Tunisia's expulsion "in order to protect the Palestine cause from the absurdities of 'deviation.'"

Water Tested

Water at Greater Victoria beaches is being sampled to determine pollution level.

This sampling will take in all local popular swimming beaches, according to Elwood Grupp, director of sanitation services of the Metropolitan Health Board.

Warren Out, Times Stays Daily

VANCOUVER (CP)—William V. Warren said early today he is dropping down as president of the Times and discharging his shares.

His statement meant he would lose control over the company he was instrumental in creating.

He also confirmed reports late Thursday that the newspaper would remain in daily operation. He did not elaborate.

An official announcement Wednesday said the newspaper would cease daily operation Monday, and would move into a weekly operation.

Japan's West Next Stop

TOKYO (AP)—An economic mission from British Columbia left Tokyo today for a four-day tour of industrial and tourist areas in western Japan.

The mission is headed by Premier Bennett.

The group will visit steel and shipbuilding sites in Osaka and tour ancient temples in the former Japanese capital of Kyoto. They will return to Tokyo May 31.

Island Scientist Helps Solve Satellite Problem

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Two young Canadian scientists have solved the problem of why the American Echo II satellite spins and thereby may have exerted enormous influence on the future United States program for space platforms.

The defence research board scientists, John Mar, 32, of Port Alberni and Ottawa, and Frank Vigneron, 25, of Eston, Sask., said Thursday in an interview that their solution may also be a possible explanation for the origin of the spin of the planets.

They were careful not to claim any space discovery. They said they had merely applied a known principle of solar radiation pressure of figure out the reason for Echo II's spinning.

Other officials said their solution, presented to an international symposium in Paris last month, has caused a minor sensation among space scientists, including Russians and Americans. They said U.S. scientists had been baffled by the problem for three years since Echo II, a satellite balloon 135 feet in diameter, was launched.

In short, the two Canadians found that solar radiation pressure caused the balloon to bulge at the point where the sunlight struck it. This caused it to rotate. As the spin accelerated, the temperature on the entire surface of the satellite evened out. Eddy currents were set up which gradually slowed the spin.

Solar radiation then came into play again and the spin accelerated again. And so on.

The theoretical rate of acceleration and deceleration was found to coincide exactly with put 750,000 gallons of treated effluent a day into Colquitz Creek," said Mr. Worth, "and we succeeded in stopping it."

"We fought the thing, and the pollution control board finally turned down the application."

"We thought that would be it, but then last year Saanich was back applying to dump 750,000 gallons a day into the creek."

HELD UP FLIGHT

"So we fought it again, and the board held up implementation of the plan."

"Now Saanich is pressing again, and on top of that we have this application by the provincial government to put 90,000 gallons a day into the creek."

"How many times do we have to fight this thing? How long can it go on?"

"You get tired of going through it all over again, time and again. Maybe that's what they hope will happen... that we'll get tired of fighting, and let them go ahead."

"We're forced to," Mr. Worth said. "It's a matter of property values; if this thing goes through, it's going to mean the ruin of the area eventually."

the observed spin rate of the satellite.

They said they were not so much interested in the solution itself as they were in the broad implications of it.

Mr. Vigneron found that U.S. scientists had not allowed for high spin rates in their plans for space platforms which will have men aboard. Too great spin could kill men in a space platform.

The U.S. plans to use a certain amount of spin in space platforms to create artificial gravity and thus eliminate weightlessness.

Mr. Mar and Mr. Vigneron said it will be possible to build into space platforms a damping effect to prevent too high a spin rate.

Mr. Mar, who presented the paper, entitled "passive spin propagation of large flexible spherically shaped satellites by the solar radiation field."

In Paris said the Russian scientists immediately twigged to the implications and were enthusiastic.

The two scientists said the origin of the spin of the planets and why they rotate around the sun has never been explained.

They will begin studies designed to postulate that radiation on the original gases out of which the planets were formed caused them to become unstable and start spinning.

"It's a matter of principle here we have a terrific natural waterway, and authorities are going to destroy its value as a recreational area in the name of progress."

"This is short-sighted policy at its worst; the city will lament it forever if it is allowed to go through."

Public Works Minister Chant said the provincial government needs the treatment plant if plans are to go ahead for construction of a retarded children's hospital near the Wilkinson Road jail.

And Neville Life, municipal engineer for Saanich, maintained that such sewage disposal is a necessity if expansion is going to continue in the municipality.

"You can't stop progress," he said.

He said the disposal plants would be only a temporary measure since the area would eventually be sewered, but he conceded that sewers might be five years or more in coming.

But Mr. Worth demanded protection right now.

"Who can say what will happen in five years?" he asked. "The important thing is to utilize this asset, not destroy it."

Another resident suggested that it was unfair to allow development to occur in Saanich at the expense of inlet residents, and indicated that properly-controlled local disposal systems might solve the problem until sewers can be put in.

Mr. Worth said, "Either the Gorge is to be considered as a recreational area or as a sewer ditch, and it can't be both satisfactorily."

Your Good Health

Congestive Heart Failure Gradual, Has Varied Causes

Dear Dr. Moizer: What is congestive heart failure and how serious would it be in a woman of 65 who has not had a heart attack as yet and hopes to avoid one?—Mrs. M. B.

In brief, a heart attack means that the organ's muscle is damaged by some of the circulation to it being cut off by a clot or similar obstruction. It is the muscle which suffers—and naturally that is serious.

Congestive heart failure is a different thing. Instead of being the result of a sudden attack, it develops gradually, and from more than one possible cause.

A typical condition involves damage to one of the valves in the heart. While the heart beats as strongly as ever, the faulty valve does not let it function as effectively. So the heart has to work harder to accomplish the same amount of blood circulation.

The strain. The seriousness depends on the degree of congestion—and how the patient takes care of the problem.

Dear Dr. Moizer: You wrote that there is no cure for pericarditis, but I have read that a drug called methotrexate has done so. Have you heard of this?—B.C.

Yes, I have. Methotrexate has helped (but not cured) some patients who have been plagued by severe pericarditis over large parts of their bodies.

It is a very powerful drug, and isn't to be considered for use when a patient has only small patches of pericarditis.

My advice to the average person with pericarditis is to have a doctor or skin specialist prescribe.

Dear Dr. Moizer: Do men go through a change of life? If so, at what age and what are the symptoms?—Mrs. A. C.

Ordinarily men do not go through a change of life in the sense that women do. With a woman, there is a very distinct change in glandular action as the age of child-bearing comes to an end, and this is accompanied by a variety of symptoms, quite distressing in some cases, rather mild or absent in others.

Such a sharp change in physiology does not occur in men. All the same, there can be some change in hormone production. In addition, nervousness, dizziness, anxiety and even a counterpart of "hot flashes" can develop from psychological rather than physical causes.

Most men never encounter such symptoms. But such cases as do occur in men are most likely to be noted somewhere between the age of 40 and 55.

Bandits Escape

changed as the two men still were inside the bank.

Then out they came, one shielded behind the credit union Manager Claude Poitras, and the other using teller Lisa Paquette for protection. Both the staff members had guns held to their heads.

The driver of the getaway car spotted the hidden officers, blew hard on his horn and ran off down the street, leaving his accomplices driverless.

One of the robbers opened fire with a machine gun but hit no one. Then another passer-by, Clifford Racicot, happened to walk down the street, wearing a peak cap.

A burst of fire caught him in the stomach after one of the bandits shouted, "stop where you are, we're not fooling."

The bandits with the hostages ran for the car with their prisoners, the third—who had been the look-out man—balded down an alley, firing as he went. His bullets smashed windows in the credit union building. All the men made good their escape.

Police gave chase but lost the getaway car. Mr. Poitras and Miss Paquette later were found some distance from the scene, as was the car, now abandoned by the gunmen.

Mr. Poitras was said to be suffering from shock as a result of his experience. A bullet, apparently one of those that flew outside the bank, tore out a tuft of Miss Paquette's hair.

Both were being treated in hospital.

Two Blasts

MONTREAL (UPI)—Police Thursday expressed doubt that two explosions that rocked Montreal during Separatist demonstrations last weekend were linked.

Police director J. Adrien Robert said there was "no apparent relation" between the blast that shattered the front of the 10-story Prudential Insurance Co. building and a second explosion that demolished a piece of earth-moving equipment on the site of the 1967 Montreal World Fair.

U.S. Destroyers Shell Viet Cong

SAIGON (CP) — American destroyers have entered the war in South Viet Nam for the first time, Bombarding Viet Cong coastal targets, it was disclosed Thursday.

In the last week four destroyers of the U.S. 7th Fleet made six shelling raids on Viet Cong installations, bases, arms dumps and training areas.

The announcement was made by a U.S. military spokesman.

SMASHED
Meanwhile, a U.S.-South Vietnamese force smashed a Viet Cong gathering 25 miles south of the Da Nang air base reported to include many Communist unit officers of that strategic area.

Against the death of one South Vietnamese soldier, about 85 Viet Cong were killed and 27 suspects were captured in this potentially crippling action against the guerrillas' command in the region 475 miles northeast of Saigon.

Funeral Issue

Pearson Eases Flag Regulation

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson Thursday said humanitarian and sentimental reasons should be considered when applying regulations applying the use of the Canadian flag at official military funerals.

Mr. Pearson was commenting in the Commons about the controversy raised over the funeral of the late Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant, who in his will asked that a white naval ensign be draped over his coffin.

Opposition members had asked last week whether a request for an official military funeral and a defence department guard of honor were refused because of the stipulation in the will.

The prime minister said he saw no reason to change regulations that have been in effect for many years requiring the use of the Canadian flag at official military funerals just because Parliament has adopted a new national flag.

But, he said, in applying the regulations, "humanitarian considerations and sentimental considerations are of some importance."

He was answering questions by George Chatterton (PC—Esquimalt-Saanich) and Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North).

Bank Loot Mounts

MONTREAL (UPI)—Police said Thursday the total loot taken in the Royal Bank of Canada robbery April 10-11 will "come to $3,000,000 in cash, jewelry and bonds."

The final figure will be released early next week when final inventory is complete.

Three suspects, all from Montreal, have been picked up outside Canada in connection with the robbery in which the bandits broke into an adjoining store, went through a heating duct in the roof until they were atop the vault and then drilled through it.

Press Tax Opposed

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson has been urged by the International Press Institute to ditch a proposed tax on newspaper advertising devised as a measure to discourage foreign ownership of Canadian publications.

The institute's executive board adopted a resolution Thursday saying that while the question of foreign ownership is a domestic issue, "any tax on press advertising would constitute an economic pressure incompatible with freedom of the press."

The board's decision, cabled immediately to Pearson, strongly endorsed the position on the institute's Canadian committee which, in a Toronto meeting April 29, described the Canadian tax measure as a violation of press freedom. The committee strongly opposed the principle of government control and said the tax scheme could lead to other abuses.

'Pull Together'—Vanier

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Governor-General Vanier said Thursday most of the significant achievements in Canada's history have been made possible only when differences were put aside and people pulled together for the common good.

Speaking at a civic luncheon, he said:

"Canada's stature as a nation, and ultimately even the wealth and well-being of her citizens, will be as great as our willingness to work together.

"The majesty of the forests and hills of Thunder Bay reminds me of the fact that in terms of potential resources per capita, Canada may be the richest nation in the world.

"When I see the cities pioneers have built here, when I see the terminals and factories, when I see the schools and the university, and above all when I see the children, the healthy, high-spirited, happy children, I know the quality of the people and the future than can be ours."

"But let us remember that even with all our endowments, the future that can potentially be ours will not tumble into our laps automatically. We will have to work for it, just as we have worked for our present achievements."

The Lion's Share

THE United States has assumed in the years following the Second World War an increasingly important role as defender of the faith of the West, the protector of the democratic way of life, and as the confronter of communism. At last count there were more than 100,000 Americans in South Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic supporting Washington's policies.

But Great Britain has not abandoned the responsibilities of peace-keeping. That astonishingly resilient and courageous people has shouldered a large share of the world's problems in danger areas, either at the invitation of governments concerned or under the United Nations flag.

To put things in perspective, the United States, with nearly five times the population and with assets beyond the imagination of the average Britisher, admits to a strain on its resources to maintain its voluntary attitude.

But Britain, too, has 100,000 fighting men deployed to protect worried friends and allies from Cyprus to Basutoland, from Aden to Malaysia.

In her three services Britain maintains a strength of 393,000. Of the 241,000 at home, six battalions are on call for UN service. In Berlin and West Germany there are 62,000; in the Mediterranean 23,000; east of Suez, 62,000; with 10,000 scattered elsewhere, including the Caribbean area and outpost garrisons such as Hong Kong.

Since 1949 Britain has spent on NATO commitments nearly one-third of the whole contribution from European members.

In 1964-65 her defence program involves 7 per cent of her gross national production.

Her 1965-66 NATO costs will run to $5,737,000,000. That is $109 per head of population.

About 1,500,000 of the British labor force of 25,000,000 works to maintain the armed services.

Defence uses a fifth of the scientists and technologists engaged in research and development, and 40 per cent of expenditure in these vital areas.

British forces under NATO command or available immediately include three-quarters of the active and reserve fleets, most of the RAF, including the whole of Fighter Command and the V-bomber force, and nearly all Coastal Command. In addition there is the Army of the Rhine.

The British themselves would be the last to suggest it; but the world owes a tremendous debt, if only in gratitude, to this indomitable race.

Left Trend

PEOPLE of LESS radical persuasion will consider Mr. Robert Strachan's statement of New Democratic Party policy for British Columbia "an adventure into the wild blue yonder," to use the expression of one political observer.

Men like Mr. A. B. Macdonald, Vancouver East, and David Stupich, Nanaimo and the Islands, have shown a tendency to steer to the left, and Mr. Strachan, perhaps not entirely willingly, has followed.

Now, there may be justification for consideration of the extension of public ownership of power, particularly in the light of past policy. The original B.C. Power Commission, after all, was formed with the main object of bringing rural electrification to British Columbia in those areas which private utilities did not consider profitable. A similar situation exists today in the Kootenay country. It seems, where private industry is reluctant to expand into low yield fields.

But when it comes to contemplation of extending public ownership to the vast complex of the timber business, B.C.'s wealthiest and most vital industry, wise men would hesitate to commit themselves. Some more liberal members of the legislature have suggested, of course, the cancellation of present tree farm licences and relicensing on short-term basis with a higher yield to government. But even this suggestion is complex and evasive of formula.

The experience of public ownership in competition with private industry in this country has not been entirely happy. Our national railway and airline have not had an experience exactly reassuring.

What Mr. Strachan and his supporters are pretty obviously intending is to steer a course so far to the left no other party will dare to follow. There are shoals there; and it is unlikely that such navigation will have any strong appeal to passengers who, happily, have a choice.

Building on Beer

BEER ISN'T EVERYONE'S beverage. Nor is it a recommended potion in an athlete's training diet. It may, nevertheless, help to produce good hockey competitors in British Columbia.

A scholarship program to help B.C. students meet the costs of a university career has been offered by a brewery, the ten $500 awards to be given athletes who show hockey proficiency and other good qualities.

This may be one way of developing talent for the Winter Olympics.

In any event it may indicate a trend. There are some hockey enthusiasts who think that by university scholarships Canada can build the finest amateur hockey teams in the world. But there must be one stipulation: that acceptance of a scholarship requires a student to refuse contract offers from any professional organization until he has completed his university education.

They may be right. Certainly Canada's experience in the last few years in international competition has demonstrated an immediate need for a new formula for development of Olympic players.

Of course, beer alone cannot be expected to pay the cost, but it is a stimulant.

In a Troubled Continent

Bolivia: Another Cuba?

By GEORGE G. VINCENT

JUST nineteen months ago the late President Kennedy greeted Senor Victor Paz Estenssoro, Bolivia's then president, with the impressive accolade: "What you are doing for your country is what we wish for all Latin America and for the Alliance for Progress!"

We Vincent was in Bolivia at the time. Reading this headline comment in the government-controlled press after a cheery visit to several spots where Senor Estenssoro's ruling Movimiento Nacional Revolucionario had murdered its political enemies, we were a little surprised. So, judging by their acid comment, were leading other South American republics.

Today Estenssoro is in exile. Bolivia is boiling up to something that could be far more dangerous than present happenings in the Dominican Republic. It would seem that the many millions of dollars that the U.S.A. has poured into this rugged, backward Andean nation in cash and kind have been tragically wasted.

Yet, in a way, President Kennedy was right. Estenssoro, a cultured, dedicated lawyer and professor of economics from the formerly all-powerful, tiny, white minority, which he smashed and dispossessed with the Revolution of 1952, did fight long and desperately, albeit ruthlessly, to bring reforms and a better way of life to the mass of his countrymen; especially the Indians, 70 per cent of the total population, who have dwelt for centuries on the high altiplano as half-starved peasant serfs and tin-miner slaves.

Led by him, the MNR, triumphant through savage struggle, maintained its tough, if often shaky, one-party rule for nearly 14 years—a record for a country which has had 100 presidents and 180 revolutions in the century-and-a-half since it attained its independence from Spain; where the Indians and the Marxist-infiltrated Miners' Union militia have more arms than the army. The tin mines, key to Bolivia's economy, were nationalized with terrific efforts to increase production. The great estates were expropriated to the landless peasants. Theoretical universal suffrage was introduced. Campaigns were launched against the chronic diseases and almost universal illiteracy of the Indians. Attempts were made to populate the rich but empty tropical lowlands, which make up half the national territory.

Such bold efforts to lift the nation by its bootstraps have had but limited effect, largely because of the eternal problem of Latin America—how to educate and condition long-oppressed, illiterate people of almost medieval outlook sufficiently to enable them to take advantage of, and not run, their new benefits and freedoms. Possessed of the great estates, the Indians farm them at bare subsistence level. Bolivia, the original home of potatoes, now has to import them! Mine production became increasingly plagued with the new-found right to strike. People from the highlands could not live at the lower levels. Bribery and corruption flourished amid the underpaid, expanding breed of bureaucrats set up to manage the ambitious schemes. And a little new-found cash can be scribbled to buy a village radio, whose poncho-clad folk listen to Russian and Chinese broadcasts in their own Aymara tongue.

It was from things like these and the clashing ideologies and ambitions of the quadrivirate of MNR leaders that the present crisis finally developed. Estenssoro, the intellectual "liberal," who felt the need for U.S. aid and strove to walk the hairline between communism and reaction; Lechin, ex-professional football player, boss of a powerful mine-workers' union and regarded by some as a crypto-communist; Siles Zuazo, son of a president of the old regime; Arce, an alleged devotee to the idea of a pacifist state—all were sincere reformer-revolutionaries, but united only in their determination to extirpate the former ruling oligarchy. They had agreed that MNR should give each a term as president; but initial collective enthusiasm soon broke down into the old national habits of sporadic revolts, manipulations of the party machine and mutual back-stabbing.

Through it all, Estenssoro strove both to implement his ideals and jealously to build the cult of his own personality as the indispensable Father of the Revolution. From 1952 to '54 he was president, with Lechin as his minister of mines—a position which the latter used to wield the formidable miners' militia into a solid phalanx in support of his own ambitions.

In 1956, Siles became president, in accordance with the Quadrivirate's agreement. By this time, police-state methods, unpopular if necessary economic measures, extremes in persecuting the remnants of the former ruling elements and the old traditional parties, plus soaring inflation and prices, had lost much sympathy for the regime. But the cracks in the monolithic MNR were still glued together with U.S. dollars and Siles survived his term. Then came 1960, and Arce's turn for the presidency. But Paz Estenssoro, back from a spell as ambassador to Great Britain, had other ideas. Through his control of the MNR party machine and funds, plus open intimidation and repression, he snatched the job from under Arce's nose and again became head of the state, with Lechin placated as vice-president.

From the start of this second term of office, a split developed between the two rivals for power developed rapidly, hastened by the nation's unimproving economic problems. Lechin, conveniently absent from the country as ambassador, first to the U.S.A. and then to Italy, came streaming back as the 1964 election approached, eager for the presidency which he felt was now his due; only to find that Estenssoro had persuaded a cowed congress to amend the constitution to permit him, Estenssoro, to succeed himself for a consecutive term!

Against Lechin's furious reaction, Estenssoro, his now fragmenting power dependent more than ever on U.S. support, was moving, perforce, to the right. Lechin, dependent on the tin miners for his main strength, must move leftward. Denounced as "subversive" and expelled from the MNR, he joined with Siles in an abortive revolt. This suppressed. Estenssoro, with strong U.S. support and the army and the peasants still behind him, was "re-elected" by an alleged enormous majority—the illiterate masses vote with bits of colored paper, supervised by Tommy-gun twing police at the polling booths—with General Rene Barrientos, head of the Air Force, as vice-president.

But it was a Pyrrhic victory. Siles and many other political leaders were exiled. Lechin went into hiding. The press was subject to increasingly stern censorship.

And then general revolt against the president broke out, ranging through students, Lechin's miners and even the professional class. With his party machine collapsing, Estenssoro called on his last friends, the tough, armed Indians of the altiplano for support, blamed "the Communists" for the trouble, and he, too, flared in the mining towns and broke off diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia, which he said had supplied the rebels.

Who's Whom?

PEOPLE who like their English reasonably pure will take heart from the news that in Yorkshire a printer is about to form a society for the protection of "who" and "whom."

Anyone who winces at the sight or the sound of the grammatical misuse of "who" and "whom" can count himself a member, says The Manchester Guardian. If he is willing to protest to the guilty newspaper, or to the radio or TV program on which the error is made, so much the better.

Charles Harris, the founder, has in mind the familiar error: "The police are anxious to interview Smith, whom they believe can help in their inquiries." Mr. Harris writes about 20 letters to editors each week.

One can only hope that, if Mr. Harris' society is a success in its chosen field, he will branch out. A society for the prevention of split infinitives would be in order. So would one for the correct spelling of common nouns. And one that would attract very widespread support would be an organization for the extermination of people who say "irregardless."

Muddle in the Mails

By MICHAEL BOWE
From Teheran

Pity the Postman!

A MOUNTAIN OF MAIL—nearly two million letters and cards—stacked in a warehouse at the main post office here may go up in flames if exasperated post office officials get their way. All are incorrectly addressed or are addressed in such a way as to defy the ingenuity of the most experienced solvers of such puzzles.

Here is an example: "The fourth lane, which is narrow and which is located opposite a telephone pole and there is a figaraki (a man selling skewered liver), and a bakery is also located in the same lane." No wonder tamperers are short among the sorters and a special committee has been given the job of finding a solution—short of a huge bonfire.

In Teheran there never was a postal division of the city into postal districts to start with. In theory, the city council must approve a street name. In fact, the wheels of local government turn so slowly that impatient residents abuse and use the name of one of their number for address purposes. Or, if there's disagreement, each uses the name of his choice—which is most confusing for the postman.

It also baffles the letter writer. Many steer clear of an address that may be incorrect. Instead, they write "To my dear aunt" and trust the post office to do the rest, or adorn their envelopes with an involved set of instructions as described above.

Some officials compare the address problem with the one that almost 50 years ago when the Raza Shah, father of the present Shah, first introduced identity cards. Until then, Persians, like the Arabs, were in the habit of putting after their given name the words "son of" followed by their father's name. But for the new identity cards this was deemed insufficient.

Everyone had to adopt a surname.

For a time, there was chaos. Some took the name of their profession, others the name of their home town. The more flippant resorted to long-standing nicknames (hence the new Mr. Zolfari—it means "the hairy one"—was invariably as bald as a billiard ball) while others still conjured up a fascinating and not entirely modest set of attributes after which they so happily named themselves.

There was, for instance, Mr. Houshkar (clever), Mr. Zalzad (intelligent) and Mr. Sadigh (honest), while a man proud of his literary abilities became Mr. Sarangar (spidren). After a while, people began to use their new-found surnames and previous problems sorted themselves out.

But the problem facing Teheran's postal authorities appears to be one that will take more than a Mr. Houshkar or a Mr. Zalzad to solve.

China's Bomb

The Dark Shadow

By ELIZABETH BARKER, from London

AT a moment when the United Nations Disarmament Commission was at work in New York preparing the way for renewed disarmament negotiations in Geneva, China carried out her second nuclear test.

This event may possess little immediate military significance. But it has great power to do political harm.

China had, of course, her supporters and sycophants, ready to accept the Peking advertisement of the bomb as a purely defensive weapon designed to preserve the peace and to counter so-called nuclear blackmail. These included the governments of North Viet Nam and North Korea—which had no other choice—the Japanese Communist Party and certain sections of African and Communist movements dependent on Chinese backing.

Outside this rather small circle, the reaction was totally different.

In the Disarmament Commission itself the Japanese delegate, Mr. Matsui, said it was an irony of fate that just as the Commission was discussing measures to prevent nuclear blackmail, China should defy its efforts. Apart from losing the atmosphere, he went on, the new explosion must also cast dark and evil clouds on the prospects for disarmament.

The Indian delegate, Mr. Priyvel, using even stronger terms, called it an "attack on humanity" showing that the Chinese People's Republic had no regard for any international gatherings. The Japanese Foreign Ministry made a formal protest, saying that the Chinese government had ignored repeated representations from Tokyo against the explosion of another nuclear device.

India's Prime Minister, Mr. Shastri, was visiting Moscow at that moment. Six months earlier, when China had exploded its first bomb, he said he hoped that the voice of all peace-loving people would be raised against what China was doing; and that the world's conscience would be awakened to fight "this aggression on peace and security."

This time he again criticized China's action and added that it undermined the urgency of the problem of controlling and eventually eliminating nuclear weapons.

These were the reactions of two neighboring Asian countries. In Russia, Prime Minister Kossygin was restrained in his comment. His government has no wish to worsen its dispute with China.

He refrained from open approval or condemnation, merely telling Indian journalists that if they wanted an explanation of China's policy they should ask the Chinese government.

Russia, he said, as a signatory of the 1963 Test Ban Treaty, is opposed to the spread of nuclear weapons.

There can, in fact, be little doubt that the Russians regard the development of the Chinese bomb with the deepest misgivings, as a threat both to Russia's position in the Communist bloc and to peace and stability in the world.

From another Communist capital, comment was outspoken. Belgrade Radio, broadcasting in Eastern Europe, said that the Chinese government had remained deaf to all appeals and protests caused by the explosion of its first nuclear bomb. In spite of the strong condemnation of world opinion, it had carried out a second explosion.

The Chinese leader, the Yugoslav Radio said, wanted to enter the so-called nuclear club so that they would be better able to force their own aggressive political concepts and ambitions on the world. The Chinese weapon was "militarily useless, politically dangerous, materially unprofitable."

That the Chinese test is harmful and dangerous, that it flouts world opinion—these things are very widely agreed. But they are obviously of small account in Peking.

The timing of the new explosion, which Western experts had expected some months earlier, was presumably chosen by the Chinese government to serve its policies. These are, of course, to strengthen China's position vis-a-vis Russia, to enhance China's prestige and bargaining position in the world, and—in the short term—to prevent any negotiation between the United States and North Viet Nam.

How far China has succeeded in these aims is still in doubt. The new explosion does, however, underline the urgent need for the rest of the world to make rapid progress in the disarmament field—above all, in preventing the spread of nuclear weapons.

The British government is working quietly but persistently to this end, and not only by helping in the search for agreement on general and complete disarmament.

It is also—so Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart told the House of Commons recently—pressing for agreements on the non-dissimulation of nuclear weapons, the extension of the partial test ban treaty to include underground tests, and a freeze of strategic missiles, coupled with the destruction of some of them.

Minister of State for Disarmament, Lord Chalfont, talking in the Disarmament Commission, has stressed the danger of the further spread of nuclear weapons. There should be a firm agreement, he said, binding nuclear powers not to hand over control of nuclear weapons or to help non-nuclear countries to make them. Non-nuclear powers would be bound neither to manufacture nor to seek control of such weapons.

The difficulty is, of course, that China's determination to become a nuclear power greatly strengthens the pressure on a number of non-nuclear countries—such as India—to acquire the bomb also, if only in self defence.

It will be a measure of these government's statesmanship if they succeed in resisting the pressures. And it is the duty of responsible governments everywhere to strengthen and support the non-nuclear powers in doing so.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

The first Old Age Pension Act was passed by the Canadian House of Commons 39 years ago—in 1925. Although it was voted down by the Senate 11 days later, on the grounds that public welfare was a provincial responsibility, a federal provincial Old Age Pension Program was set up the following year, providing old people with assistance subject to a means test. The first universal old age pensions, of $40 a month to persons over 70, began in 1952.

1754—George Washington first saw action, leading a British raid on a French outpost near Pittsburg.

A Johnson Decision

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN
From Washington

The oblique reference to President Kennedy's favourite chair was certainly not intended to be offensive. It was a Freudian slip. It was a fair measure of the change that has come over American policy.

In Viet Nam, his intentions are perfectly clear. The President believes that almost every observer of the scene in Indo-China that the Saigon Government is losing the war. He believes, profoundly and sincerely, that this creeping defeat is the result of aggressive and fundamentally foreign subversion. He does not anticipate a complete and clear military victory.

He intends to change the balance of power in that country. And then he would be prepared to talk, if necessary, with his enemies, the Viet Cong. The military history of the American operation there is illuminating.

It began with American military advisers to the South Vietnamese forces. (There are now sufficient U.S. captains in the country to staff three and a half divisions). President Johnson, a practical man, watched with impatience the costly failure of bombing the North. This was not enough. There are now 66,500 American troops in Viet Nam. At Da Nang they have built a base intended to be impregnable. The war has escalated. The Americans are as involved as they were in Korea. They are not quite ready to admit it.

In the Dominican Republic, the President—and it always comes back to the President—was convinced that he was faced with a Communist takeover. So he elaborated on the Monroe Doctrine that declared—when America was powerless and dependent for its security on the British Royal Navy—that no more foreign intrusions would be allowed on the American continent. There are now 22,000 troops on the Dominican bit of the tragic island which is called Hispaniola. And the President intends to get a reasonably friendly island out of it all.

It is certainly a brave and assertive policy. It competes with Red China in its assertions. The President intends to have it misunderstood. He has appeared in public at least 12 times in the last fortnight to try to explain it.

But this is not a warring policy. This is a tough and simple policy of a tough and simple man who knows and uses power. There are many dead Americans as a result of it. There are other casualties: the relationship with India and Pakistan; the fact that in Japan the most distinguished American economist cannot speak in universities and the Marine band cannot play in public.

In South America, 30 years of work seem to have been ruined. Only the English Labour Government and the Italians appear to support him. But he is not alone. America is a great giant suddenly asserting itself. This is what has not happened before. This is an expression of a reality that we know—but never understood.

Red China Prepares Its People for War

By ED MEAGHER, from Hong Kong

The Chinese Communist regime is preparing its people for war.

Slowly the Peking hierarchy is moving toward total conscription of its 750,000,000 population into the militia and supplementary para-military units.

Evidence of this is strikingly apparent in recent statements by government leaders and in domestic press and radio channels.

The impression is given that every person in China capable of walking now undergoes military training of some sort, even if no more than mental conditioning.

The theme constantly drilled throughout China is that the United States, beaten in South Viet Nam, is now bombing North Viet Nam and threatens invasion of Communist China itself.

The organized militia is being expanded and its training stepped up. More than that, most other civilians are now receiving practical instruction in warfare through what are called military camping activities.

What these camp-outs are, and who takes part have been described in a number of recent articles carried by a Peking sports and physical culture periodical. It appears that organized sports and physical culture associations have been given a leading role by the regime to supervise military camping activities.

One of these articles dealt with a municipality in Anwei province, but is indicative of what is happening all over China.

The municipality is praised for its methods of developing military camping activities in conjunction with its education (Marxist) program dealing with the current situation.

The sports publication hinted that expansion of the program means that no able-bodied person will be able to escape taking part.

"The aim of their training for war is clear and correct," the article continued.

"Their camping activities, such as quick marches, mountaineering, air defence, posting sentries, utilization of terrain and landmarks, marksmanship, grenade throwing, bayonet charge, first aid, emergency assembly, scouting, signalling and liaison are in accord with Chairman Mao's ideas about the people's war, and meet the requirement for turning the whole people into soldiers," the article said.

The publication said military camping was useful to strengthen the people physically and at the same time deepen their awareness of national defence.

"In the course of camping," the article reported, "the masses are given a series of political and ideological lessons in patriotism and internationalism... the thought of Mao Tse-tung must be studied and applied dynamically."

In this way, according to the article, the people will understand Mao's writings about "the aggressive nature of imperialism, the fact that imperialism and all reactionaries are paper tigers, the people's war and support of the people's revolutionary struggles of the world..."

A later article in the same publication indicated that there was almost total participation in camping as the feeling of the people for war training increased.

The article reported that basic level units in the villages are carrying out their training during spare time on week-ends and holidays. It was indicated that some areas have added anti-chemical warfare and the encirclement and annihilation of air-dropped enemy agents to the war training curricula.

"During weekends and holidays people going out for military camping—shouldering their guns, carrying kits on their backs and holding high red banners—can be seen everywhere."

The same scene, beyond doubt, is now commonplace throughout the huge nation, with party leaders whipping up among the people a feverish preoccupation with becoming soldiers.

BACKGROUND

Quebec Keeps Martin Hopping

By DAVE MCINTOSH
From Ottawa

External Affairs Minister Martin is keeping one step ahead of Quebec in his current "domestic" foreign problem.

The problem has to do with Quebec's desire to negotiate and enter into educational and cultural agreements with France.

The federal government insists that it alone can sign international treaties.

This ticklish business began last year when negotiations opened on an educational exchange program between Quebec and France.

Given Ottawa's claim to be the sole treaty-signing authority, it is important that Mr. Martin be able to say that he had held consultations with French authorities before Quebec has entered detailed negotiations with Paris. This gives the negotiations an aura of federal sanction in advance.

So far, Mr. Martin has been successful in having prior consultations with the French authorities.

In the case of the education agreement, Mr. Martin discussed the matter with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and other French authorities some months before negotiations opened.

Quebec now wants a cultural agreement with France and earlier this month Mr. Martin had discussions in Paris on this point—before the arrival there of Quebec Cultural Affairs Minister Pierre Laporte.

Jean Basdevant, general director of cultural affairs for the French foreign ministry, met Mr. Martin in Ottawa this week before going on to Quebec City.

The Canadian minister, however, wants something better than this perpetual track meet with Quebec.

That is why he discussed with Mr. Basdevant a general or master agreement between Canada and France under which the provinces could negotiate agreements with Paris in fields where they hold jurisdiction.

Peronists Target For Red Assault

By CHARLES KEELY
From Buenos Aires

Argentina's legal Communist Party has set its long range subversive sights on the massive labor-based following of former dictator Juan Peron.

In a surprisingly frank policy statement, the Communist Party of Argentina (PCA) has announced that only by working with the Peronists can it "ever hope to gain control of the laboring masses" in Argentina.

The Communists are staking claim to a large share of credit for sweeping Peronist victories in congressional elections last March.

They claim to have contributed up to 300,000 votes to the Peronists, providing the critical margin by which Union Popular (UP), the Peronist party, edged President Arturo Illia's Peoples Radical Party (UCRP) by 2,804,538 votes to 2,828,288.

The Communists, prohibited from running candidates in the election, swung their support to the Peronists.

In view of the election results, the PCA has announced its intention of weaning away support from the Peronists, who represent about a third of the nation's voters.

The PCA believes that the "dialectical development of the labor movement in Argentina will inevitably lead these Peronist laboring and popular masses toward positions which will coincide more and more with those of the PCA, thus forcing these popular masses to adopt the Marxist-Leninist doctrines."

More Study for Principals

More training in administration is in store for principals and vice-principals of public schools in Greater Victoria. School trustees have decided the great weight of administration required in being principal of a larger school calls for increased training for candidates for these positions. Trustee Peter Bunn of Oak Bay, who raised the matter with the board, pointed out there is a two-year probationary period before principals and vice-principals are confirmed in their positions. The board agreed that during this two years these candidates should take a course in administration.

Such one-month courses are offered at UBC each summer. Trustees indicated principals and vice-principals would be required to take the course in their probationary period to gain permanent status.

'But Canada Must Switch'

Metric Measure Long Struggle

OTTAWA (CP) — The days of measures in Canada will present a complicated problem, L. E. Howlett said Thursday. "It will have to be done if it will have to be done in stages."

Dr. Howlett, director of the applied physics department of the National Research Council, said in an interview that some sections of industry, especially in the photographic and drug field, already have switched to metric measures.

But Canada's trade ties to Britain and the U.S. was a real stumbling block. Britain recently has announced a change to the metric system over a period of years, while the U.S. has shown no intention of switching.

"Canada usually is in the position of having to make compromises — usually very difficult compromises."

"But somebody has to take the initiative and say where we are going."

Barbeque Ban On Hippos

MOOSE JAW (CP) — The federal government has ruled out African hippo burgers to mark Saskatchewan's 50th anniversary as a province.

Now the organizers of a jubilee barbeque are considering buffalo burgers from home-grown settlers.

Mayor L. H. Lewry of Moose Jaw said Thursday Agriculture Minister Hays refused to grant permission to import hippo meat — live or frozen — because the hippopotamus is a possible carrier of foot-and-mouth disease. The risk to the Canadian livestock industry would be too great, the government said.

Mayor Lewry now is checking the Moose Jaw Wild Animal Park which plans to this out its buffalo herd this summer.

Motorcycle Safety Eyed

VANCOUVER (CP) — A three-man committee of the British Columbia Safety Council will investigate the growing number of deaths and accidents involving motorcycles.

Executive director Stephen Kershaw said Thursday statistics show swarms of cycles using B.C.'s streets and highways are becoming a safety problem of real concern.

The province's eighth motorcycle-connected fatality was recorded Wednesday.

Mr. Kershaw said the cyclist's death, in Powell River, brought this year's total to twice that in 1964. In 1963, one motorcyclist died in an accident.

The suggestions include compulsory motorcycle driving training before a licence is issued, and a special licence for motorcycle drivers.

Sunsets, Bennett's Smile for Sale

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sunsets will be on sale to tourists using the British Columbia ferry system this summer.

Canadian Sunsets is the title of a record of popular music that will be sold for $2.95 on all ferries.

The cover will show a picture of a ferry sailing into the sunset on one side and Premier Bennett giving his sunniest smile on the back.

The record was previewed Wednesday on the inaugural cruise of the Queen of Barnaby. Ferry manager Monty Aldous said later he is considering installation of a music system aboard the fleet.

Highways Minister Garland formally accepted the Queen of Barnaby.

He said it is the last of the large ferries contemplated by the authority at this time. The vessel was an improvement over the first one that went into service between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay in 1950. It is completely free of vibration and has a maximum speed of 18 knots.

"She is not quite fast enough for me," the minister said. "But almost as fast as you can go on the water."

Berlin Roars Royal Welcome

every difficulty are a glowing inspiration to the whole free world.

"God speed in the great tasks which lie before you, in which you can continue to count upon the full support of the British government and people."

WILD ENTHUSIASM

Police estimated the crowd in the square was only half as big as Kennedy's but there was the same wild enthusiasm. People cheered from the windows, balconies and rooftops, waved tens of thousands of paper Union Jacks and roared "E-li-z-a-beth, E-li-z-a-beth" in a four-beat rhythm.

Mayor Willy Brandt and City Assembly Speaker Otto Bach repeatedly had to interrupt their introductory speeches while the crowd cheered the Queen.

SLIGHTLY AWED

Elizabeth, looking slightly awed by the unaccustomed ardor, smiled and waved under the red and gold canopy erected for her in front of the city hall. Her bright gold-yellow coat and hat made her complexion look pale by contrast and some onlookers said she seemed tired.

Officially the Queen and Prince Philip came to West Berlin to review the 3,000-man British garrison. The East German regime had declared earlier this month it had no objection to her visit on that basis.

But the Communists chose Wednesday and Thursday to undertake repairs on the 110-mile highway through East Germany that links the city with the West causing a huge pileup of traffic at both ends.

At the same time, the Communist news agency, ADN, described West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's arrival to accompany the Queen as a "provocation" and accused Erhard of exploiting the royal visit for an "aggressive demonstration."

FIELD GLASSES

East German soldiers and police watched through field glasses as the royal motorcade passed slowly by the wall and stopped twice in front of the famed Brandenburg Gate, which lies just inside East Berlin.

Philip, sitting beside the Queen in their open car, waved cheerfully at four East German frontier guards watching from a raised platform only a few feet east of the wall.

The guards stood at ease. Two of them gave a casual wave, the other two ignored the prince's greeting.

VIEW BLOCKED

Some 200 yards behind them, a few hundred East German civilians stood as near as they could get to the gate, apparently hoping to catch a glimpse of the Queen. But the seven-foot-high wall blocked their view.

Age 69 in 1966? Apply Now for Pension

W. R. Bone, regional director of old age pensions, estimated Thursday that 14,000 B.C. residents will benefit next year from lowering of the minimum age for universal pensions to 69.

Mr. Bone said the federal government is ready to accept ap-

SANTO DOMINGO (Reuters)—General Antonio Imbert, military junta leader, Thursday turned against international efforts to seek a new provisional government for the embattled Dominican Republic.

He told a rally of about

2,000 supporters here that "you and only you are those to decide which government suits you."

MEDIATION

The United States, the Organization of American States and the diplomatic corps here are trying to arrange a provisional government to end the crisis that erupted April 24.

Troops of a 1,300-man Brazilian contingent began arriving here by air, joining small groups from Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, while about 1,700 U.S. troops were pulling out.

Many thousands of Dominicans have been killed and injured since the revolt broke out against the ruling civilian junta.

Imbert took the leadership of a military junta that replaced the civilian rulers with United States support in opposition to the rebellion under Francisco Caamaño.

Meanwhile the Caamaño and Imbert forces remain separated by an international corridor and security zone, policed by U.S. and some Latin American forces.

U.S. VIEW

In Washington yesterday, U.S. administration sources made plain that they want both the rival Dominican leaders to step down from power in the proposed provisional government. But all-or-nothing extremists on both sides have prevented agreement on a broadly-based coalition regime so far.

The U.S. also thinks that the Organization of American States should carry the ball in the outside mediating effort.

Highest Awards

Five young members of the Victoria St. John Ambulance Brigade won the highest award the brigade presents to cadets, Thursday.

The Grand Prior Award was presented to four cadets and one junior cadet at the brigade's annual inspection.

The cadets are: Adrian Thomas, Sherrill Brown, Wendy Mottishaw, and Lynda Keys.

SERVICE SHIELD

Junior cadet, Constance Gibbs, also received the award. Arlene Halme, 16, won the Special Service Shield, which is presented to holders of the Grand Prior Award who have completed more than 200 hours of voluntary work.

Inspecting officers were Major H. D. Robertson, deputy provincial commissioner, and Mrs. Pearl Johnson, provincial superintendent, nursing.

The inspecting officers watched the 60 members of the Victoria brigade perform first aid demonstrations after the annual inspection.

Scots Score

HELSINKI (AP)—Scotland defeated Finland 2-1 in a World Cup soccer qualification game on Thursday.

Margaret to Visit U.S.

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret will pay her first visit to the United States in November, it was announced Thursday. The trip will mark the triumphant end of a campaign she has been waging since she was a teenager.

An announcement from the princess' home in Kensington Palace said that she and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, would visit San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington and New York officially and some other unspecified places privately.

For years the princess has been trying to get permission to go to the United States first from her father, the late King George VI, and then from her sister, Queen Elizabeth. It always met with royal opposition heretofore.

It will be the first American trip by a member of the royal family since Queen Elizabeth toured Chicago during her Canadian visit in July, 1959.

The two Snowdon children, Viscount Linley, 3, and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 1, will remain in England in the care of nannies.

The Snowdons are expected to leave London by air Nov. 4 and stay in the United States for three weeks.

Royal circles said, that although there was no mention of Lord Snowdon's photography in the announcement they would be surprised if the Snowdons did not tour the studios and perhaps visit homes of some of the many people they know in the industry.

Before her marriage, the princess occasionally received such stars as Danny Kaye and Jack Lemmon. Other friends in the United States include Sherman Douglas, daughter of former American ambassador Lewis Douglas.

Princess Margaret has had many invitations from American cons, both official and personal.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson agreed Thursday to look into the question of inviting Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, to Canada.

The matter was raised by Eric Winkler (PC—Grey-Bruce) who asked whether such an invitation had been issued in view of Princess Margaret's acceptance of an invitation to visit the United States.

Mr. Pearson said he wasn't aware of the U.S. invitation.

Major John Griffin, her press secretary, said Margaret has no plans to detour or extend her U.S. trip for a visit to Canada.

Sunday Meet For Humanists

Humanist Fellowship of Victoria will hold its annual general meeting at 8 p.m. Sunday at 2901 Sea View.

Mummy's Skeleton Smashed

Murder, or Weird Rite?

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—An X-ray of a 2,000-year-old Egyptian mummy has shown every bone in the body was broken in what might have been a violent death or some long-forgotten ritual.

The X-ray department at Pretoria General Hospital made the discovery when it X-rayed the linen-swathed mummy at the request of the Transvaal Museum to determine its age, sex and cause of death.

Museum officials speculated the "patient" died a violent death, possibly by stoning. But they conceded the body might have been the victim of a strange ritual after death.

The fabric, uncovered from 20 centuries of dust, was still in good condition. In places where it had worn away from the feet it was seen from the state of the toes and toenails that the mummy had been perfectly embalmed.

Massey Ferguson Harvests Lower Profits

By HARRY YOUNG

half of the current fiscal year ended April 30, compare unfavorably with results for the same period a year ago.

Massey Ferguson for the first time in the company's history.

pany made a net profit of $8,100,000 (54 cents) compared with $21,100,000 ($1.51) a year ago, while sales were down eight per cent at $331,900,000 from $363,700,000.

The cost of introducing a new line of tractors was largely responsible for the drop in profits, the company said, and the situation was aggravated by a strike in the tractor works in England during the period.

Despite the poor first half, Massey Ferguson expects to end the year with about the same sales level as a year ago.

BUILDERS ON TOUR

Bert Walters, manager of the Bank of Montreal main office in Victoria, is to entertain members of the Dutch and West German housing mission when they arrive in Victoria Sunday to see new construction in the capital city area.

A continental style outdoor lunch at Mr. Walters' Weald Road home is being laid on for the party of about 36, which will arrive Sunday.

includes housing experts from the two European countries. They are being sponsored in a cross-Canada tour by the federal trade and commerce department as a means of introducing them to Canadian house construction methods and use of Canadian housing materials.

The party is at present in Vancouver and will examine factory manufactured homes at Abbotsford and other mainland housing projects. After leaving Victoria Sunday evening the party will go to Qualicum and on Monday will visit the Northwest logging operations of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River before returning to the mainland.

BIG POTASH GROWTH

Canada will be producing 25 per cent of the world's potash by 1970, most of it from Saskatchewan, according to W. S. Kirkpatrick, president of Consolidated Mining and Smelting. Cominco is setting up a $65,000,000 potash plant near Saskatoon that will have an initial rate of 1,000,000 tons a year by 1969.

LOWER RATE OFFERED
Alberta Gas Trunk Line Co. Ltd. announces it is going to call its present preferred shares for redemption in order to refinance them with shares carrying a lower dividend rate.

Involved are $25,000,000 6 1/2 per cent and 5 1/2 per cent preferred shares. A new issue of $27,500,000 of 4 1/2 per cent preferred shares will be offered in their place.

TO SERVE MKA CREEK
A contract to supply four dis-mutories for the construction of the Mica Dam on the Columbia River has been awarded to ATCO Industries Ltd. (Alberta Trailers) of Calgary and Vancouver.

The two storey buildings will each house 448 construction workers and will cost $662,000. They are to be completed this summer.

HIGHEST IN YEAR

The yield on the 91-day government treasury bills rose Thursday to a new high for 1964 at 3.80 per cent, up .07 from the previous week.

It was the highest yield on these three-month bills since March 1964, and reflected a tightness in the short term money supply.

IRON PROFITS RISE

Increased earnings are reported by two companies specializing in the production and export of iron ore from eastern Canada. Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd. made a net profit of $8,862,933 ($1.80) in 1964 against $7,117,318 ($1.57).

Labrador Mining and Exploration Co. Ltd. made $7,812,187 ($2.37) in 1964 compared with $5,089,919 ($1.54) a year ago.

AUTHORITY GIVEN

Northern Ontario Natural Gas has been given authority by the National Energy Board to proceed with the construction of a 60-mile $4,000,000 pipeline to serve the Rouyn area of Quebec. It will run from Earleton, Ontario, and will be built by Champion Pipeline Company.

'Regional Plans Aren't Mergers'

If anyone thinks there is a similarity between amalgamation and the provincial government's regional planning scheme, he is dead wrong. Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell told Vancouver Island community leaders Thursday.

The government has no intention of usurping the administrative identities of any municipality. Regional districts are concerned with function and function only, the minister said.

COMMON TO ALL. They are destined to take care of those activities, such as garbage collection, which are

The Delicate Art Of Asking Questions

Many businessmen, some husbands, and too many parents begin an interview with "Now, all I want are the facts." . . . and then follows an attempted cross-examination. This article in June Reader's Digest shows that there are better ways, developed and tested by experts. Read why "feed-back" often fools fathers. Get your copy of Reader's Digest today.

common to all municipalities in a region.

"People like to be identified with a community, and any device which does not take this into consideration is doomed to failure," Mr. Campbell said.

BREAKING UP

"If you believe amalgamation of municipal areas is the answer—and I don't—look at Vancouver. Even now, in spite of amalgamation, it is breaking up into community areas. Point Grey and Marpole are good examples of this."

Speaking to about 40 delegates at the annual meeting of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities, held in Brentwood with Central Saanich as host, Mr. Campbell suggested that every time a Vancouver municipal leader looks at his city's fringe area, which extends almost from Nanose to Ladysmith, he must ask himself why it isn't inside regional boundaries and all serviced from one source.

"The people of Nanaimo surely must ask themselves why they are picking up the load for this disorganized, unorganized territory."

ARTIFICIAL LINES

"These political boundaries, artificial lines drawn on a map, make no sense at all when it comes to services. Just what can such lines mean when things like pollution and garbage collection are involved?" the minister said.

The provincial Municipal Act, amended at the last session of the legislature, is a flexible instrument for the provision of regional districts. If it is necessary to change the act to make it more accommodating for municipalities, the government is willing to alter it once, twice or 15 times.

REACTION GOOD

Almost the total effort of his department this year was going into the regional board issue, Mr. Campbell said.

Reaction has been very good and even now there are 16 steering committees operating on the regional district question across the province.

Federal Aid Requested

More federal financial assistance for municipalities is being sought by the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities.

Delegates endorsed a resolution for the establishment of a permanent federal fund to assist municipalities with construction of capital projects.

The federal Development and Loan Act, designed for such purposes, is only on a temporary basis. Federal allocations to the municipal fund expire in March, 1966.

The meeting endorsed a resolution asking the B.C. government to amend the Hospital Insurance Act to include ambulance services under the BCITIS.

Lighten Load, Oak Bay Urges

In an effort to recoup some of the heavy cost of providing sewers, streets and other services for the University of Victoria, Oak Bay realized the support of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities Thursday.

As the result of a resolution, the province will be asked to pay municipalities an annual grant "in lieu of taxes for services to university holding within municipal boundaries."

Oak Bay is bearing a heavy burden supplying services tax free to the university, Coun. John Watts told delegates to the annual convention.

Saanich is also carrying a load, he said, but in view of the difference in population, that borne by Oak Bay was heavier.

The federal government paid grants in lieu of taxes on federal property and the provincial government, to a less extent, did the same, Coun. Watts said.

In view of the fact that the university was now close to being a provincial property, he thought it fair that the province should lighten Oak Bay's burden.

A resolution identical to that of Oak Bay received the support of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at its last convention, Coun. Watts said.

Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni and Commissioner Henderson will be the association's candidates for places on the executive of the UBCM at its convention in Victoria in September.

Vice-president is Coun. Watts and municipal representatives, Reeve D. C. Morton of North Cowichan, Ald. Robert Baird of Victoria, Mayor Leslie Hammer of Port Alberni and Commissioner William Henderson, Cumberland.

The UBCM president, Reeve Peter Jenewein of Maple Ridge, told delegates that it was possible Premier Lesage of Quebec will be chief speaker at the official banquet during the UBCM convention.

St. John Plans Two Parades

Annual inspection of the Victoria Branch of St. John Ambulance will be held at two parades Thursday evening at 941 Pandora.

Cadets will be inspected at 6:30 p.m. and the senior divisions at 8 p.m. with first aid and home nursing demonstrations following.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING STIMULATES BUYING

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich, Coun. Douglas Watts of Oak Bay and Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt spoke for a ban, making in unanimous for Greater Victoria.

'Ban the Bangs'

Victoria gained the support of all Vancouver Island municipalities Thursday in its long-standing war on explosive-type firecrackers.

With one dissenting vote, members of the Association of Island Municipalities agreed to recommend to their council's adoption of bylaws prohibiting the sale and discharge of firecrackers at all times.

Mayor Wilson said the Victoria motion is designed to plug a few loopholes. If unanimity can be obtained on the Island, it may be possible to get the provincial government to prohibit the sale in unorganized territory.

"It is only the explosive type of fire cracker we are worried about—the kind that blows children's fingers off and eyes out," the mayor said.

Coun. R. J. Tucker of Powell River thought there was too much municipal restriction. "Give the kids an outlet. Give them a free hand and you'll see—they'll behave themselves. Youngsters have to let their hair down once in a while. Why should we take the joy out of their lives?"

EDMONTON (CP) — Oil and gas drilling reservations in the Rainbow Lake area in far northwestern Alberta drew lower bids than expected Thursday in a provincial government sale.

Oil industry observers had billed Thursday's sale as one that would provide the first concrete indication of the importance of oil strikes in the Rainbow Lake area.

HIGH ESTIMATE

Oil company landmen estimated in a survey prior to the sale that each of the two drilling reservations offered Thursday in the area would net the government $5,000,000 to $15,000,000.

But Suncor Mobil Oil of Canada Ltd. acquired one for $2,006,789 and the other for $1,506,789. Each reservation took in 8,120 acres.

The government's total revenue from the sale—which included eight petroleum and natural gas drilling reservations on Crown land in various parts of Alberta—was $7,016,260. Government revenue from sale of oil rights to date in 1965 now is $60,339,000.

INTERESTING AREA

The largely muskeg Rainbow Lake area, 400 miles northwest of Edmonton and 200 miles north of any existing Alberta oil field, has been shaping up as one of the most interesting oil hunting areas in years.

VANCOUVER — A master of leger-de-main turned the tables on National Revenue Minister Benson at a Vancouver nightclub.

"The amazing Dr. Giovanni" went through the audience and selected a group for his audience participation act.

Among those who mounted the stage was national tax collector Benson.

It was then Giovanni turned the trick many thought couldn't be done. He picked Benson's pocket.

FLORENCE — Flery Italian actress Anna Magnani was greeted by a storm of applause and cheers from an elegant first-night audience on her return to the stage after a 10-year absence. The 57-year-old actress had to wait several minutes for the applause to die down before continuing.

MORETON-IN-MARSH, England — Farmer's wife Renne Lane gave the "kiss of life" to two cows electrocuted when a milking machine short-circuited at her farm here. The cows died anyway.

Trimaran Vanishes With Six

PADSTOW, England (UPI)—Coast Guard stations along 300 miles of coast from Land's End to St. David's Head were alerted Thursday to watch out for a missing $70,000 trimaran—a triple-hulled sailing boat—which disappeared from her moorings here.

The trimaran, the largest afloat, is the 64-foot-long, 32-foot-wide, green-painted Tryptich. It is believed to have six people aboard.

RETIRED FARMER

They are wealthy retired Canadian dairy farmer, Matthew Orme Burpee, 50, of Perth, Ont., his wife Elizabeth, 45, their children, Sandra, 18, and David, 17, and two crewmen, John Nelson and his brother, William.

Burpee, who has lived with his family at the picturesque Cornish town of Padstow for nearly 18 months while the trimaran was being built at nearby Wadebridge, has never handled the vessel before and has no seagoing experience.

WELL PROVISIONED

He took over the trimaran from the boat builders Wednesday, obtained customs clearance for Nassau, in the Bahamas, and has not been seen since the boat slipped from her moorings at 2 a.m. Thursday.

David Senior, a director of the firm which built her, said she is "well provisioned for a long voyage and has ample fuel aboard for her auxiliary engine."

Satellites To Forecast

GENEVA (UPI)—Weather experts Thursday began work on plans for a meteorological satellite system that will provide the world with instant weather forecasts and global storm warnings.

The executive committee of the World Meteorological Organization hopes by the time it ends its meeting here on June 11 to complete plans for the world weather watch, a system first discussed in 1963.

The committee is seeking to select the sites of regional weather-watching centres.

People Are Here to Live, Not to Die But Authorities Missed the Change

By AL ARNASON
Second of Three Articles

Public recreation facilities in Greater Victoria are a story in rejection to make Little Orphan Annie look like a pampered pet.

Half a century ago, when Victoria was operated very close to its still-living image as a lovely place in which to die, active recreation was a minor consideration.

As the average age of the residents climbed because of the influx of retired people to the area, recreation was the last place voters wanted to spend money.

Nose to Wind

And the politicians knew it. Census figures show that in the city of Victoria only 4.8 per cent of the population was over 65 years in 1921. By 1956 the figure was a phenomenal 19.7 per cent, with the average for the nation only 7.8 per cent.

The city's growing reputation as a bit of Old England probably didn't help much. Tourism provided more and more of the community's earnings, and was entitled to all the consideration it could be given by city fathers.

True, You Know

Today, the character of the people in Victoria is changing. They are here to live—not to die.

They have money and increasing leisure time. They are beginning to have a real need for public recreation facilities, paid for and supported by the public purse.

In the past five years, the school population of this cluster of communities sprawled over the southern tip of the Island has jumped by nearly half, from just over 24,000 to nearly 36,000 children.

Do they need more recreational facilities?

Walking Proof

Just drive along Patricia Bay Highway or the Trans-Canada on a hot summer day and count them as they hitchhike to the Thetis Lake and Elk Lake for a swim.

This boom in children has played a part in reversing the population percentage of the elderly.

While official figures will be unavailable until the 1966 census, some estimates are for a drop of three per cent in the over-65 population percentage. Nevertheless, in spite of the most temperate climate in the country, there is not a single public outdoor swimming pool in any of the four communities of Victoria, Saanich, Esquimalt or Oak Bay.

People close to sport have almost given up wondering why. Ask the question and they just shake their heads in confusion.

So do the newcomers. Parents, for instance, who have moved their families to the Island to escape the dreary, long winter-short summer cycle of the Prairies and points east.

They have reason to wonder. Windsor has seven outdoor pools, Calgary has six, London and Hamilton five each, chilly Edmonton has four and even Halifax has one. In all but Halifax, there are also a number of indoor pools.

That was the count in 1961, according to a survey taken that year by the respected Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria.

The survey, which slipped into oblivion as soon as it reached the political level, said four years ago that "... priority consideration should be given to the provision of swimming pools in strategic locations throughout the area."

No public pools have been built since. A 1964 Esquimalt proposal to build an indoor swimming pool died in (the) ballot box four years after the community's arena was built. The vote went 60 per cent against the pool that needed 60 per cent approval to be built.

Still in limbo to this day is a salt-water swimming-area plan backed by the Anglers' Association. The problem here is the need to convince the federal government it should build a breakwater at Kinross Beach. Swimmers were to get a slice of the water in the lee of the breakwater.

"But why should we have pools when we are so close to the ocean and have so many beautiful beaches?" people ask.

The late, lamented survey had an answer.

It said: "Although Greater Victoria is supplied with beach areas adequate (on a footage basis) to serve a population of some 300,000, their actual suitability for swimming is limited."

If personal experience is valid evidence, that means currents, cold water, rocks and marine plant life put most of the lower Island beaches out of the swim picture, except for scuba divers.

Only Remedy

"As a result," continues the report, "there are few swimming facilities in the area within easy reach of a considerable portion of the population, particularly where supervision is provided. It is felt this lack can be remedied only by provision of swimming pools as recommended."

The Crystal Garden pool is the only truly public pool in the area, and it is too far away from many of the city's areas for small fry to make their way there for a swim on their own.

And besides, it became a city project a little less than a year ago.

Special groups have access to pool, though, all of them more or less indoors. The RCN swimmers enjoy modern facilities at Naden, the YMCA has a pool for members and the Victoria Racquet Club has had a pool for a while. The trouble is none serve the general public.

Not Only One

While swimming pools nicely focus attention on just how far behind the rest of Canada the lower Island has fallen, they are not by any means the only index.

● We have no big league football or baseball exhibitions here, because we lack a stadium big enough to draw the crowd needed to make exhibitions pay.

● Visiting rugby and soccer teams that played at the draughty Royal Athletic Park were less than enthusiastic about the inadequate change rooms under the stands.

● Victoria's high school track and field championships draw only 18 per cent of the student body as spectators. There is no room for more at Vic High grounds—perhaps the best track accommodations in the city.

Plain Language

The survey committee that put out the Community Welfare Council report of 1961 concludes:

"Greater Victoria is singularly lacking in recreation facilities, programs and leadership provided by municipal authorities and in many ways our provision of facilities has fallen far short of accepted standards."

"The survey also revealed that although Greater Victoria is fortunate in the large number of private organizations offering some sort of recreational program, and in the many volunteers who make these activities possible, there are many gaps in service, and no little chaos and confusion due to the lack of co-ordination and leadership which can be provided only by properly organized and adequately staffed public authority."

The cure — and No. 1 recommendation of the survey report — is an inter-municipal parks and recreation commission with representation from Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

Failing this, says the survey, forget about the parks and set up one commission for recreation only, in all four communities.

It offered still another choice, if the first two were found to be impossible.

Set up separate commissions in each of the communities and form a co-ordinating committee to tie it all together, urged the report.

It also pointed out the need to hire competent professionals to manage the recreation program of the area.

The goal of a really advanced and adequate recreational life on the southern half of the Island is far in the future, because it costs money and plenty of it.

But if the recommendations of the survey report of 1961 had been put into practice — even in a small way — we would now be four years closer to that goal.

How long will it be before the problem is solved?

Dodgers Find Ways To Remain Out Front

One way or another, Los Angeles Dodgers keep winning often enough to stay on top of the National League.

They increased their lead by a game yesterday through a combination of the tight pitching of Johnny Podres and a ninth-inning, bases-loaded walk to pinch-hitter Al Ferrara which brought a 3-2 victory over Milwaukee Braves.

PERFECT RECORD

Podres, starting infrequently but now 30 for the season, was unbeatable after yielding two second-inning runs and dueling on even terms with Denny Lemaster until the ninth after the Dodgers had tied it in the fourth inning.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Giants and Houston Colts gave the Dodgers a lift with victories over the second-place Cincinnati Reds and third-place St. Louis Cardinals, respectively.

Ex-Dodger Dick Farrell stopped the Cardinals, 6-1, with seven-hit pitching and got insurance runs from two St. Louis errors. Three-hit pitching by Gaylord Perry and home runs by Jesus Alou and Cap Peterson, stopped the Minnesota Red Sox to a 2-0 victory which pushed the Twins into second place.

Radatz was rushed in with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth inning and promptly struck out two pinch-hitters.

New York Yankees went down again, 1-4, to Detroit Tigers but took some solace from the return to action of Roger Maris, who prevented a shutout with a ninth-inning home run.

Tugmen Best Port Alberni In 'B' Boxla

Victoria Tugmen won their first game in four starts Thursday night with an 8-7 triumph over Port Alberni in a Vancouver Island Senior "B" Lacrosse League game at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Lonnie Restall scored two goals for the Tugmen, with Bill Spotswood, Brian Cornell, Ron Marshall, Keith Lawrence, Ken Blunt and Don Munroe adding one goal each.

John Dorfing and Gerry Shires each scored twice for the losers. Barry Gilmour, Ted Caese and Steve Bishop completed the scoring.

Rye Halts Carlings For First Victory

The win was right-hander Rye's first in two starts. Terry Campbell was the big hitter, driving in four runs, two in the second inning and two in the sixth. Stu Mitchell also batted in two runs.

Winner Rye struck out eight men and walked none. Bob Deane, in his first start for Carlings, was charged with the loss.

Parting of the Ways For CAHA-NHL

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's decision Thursday to end its working agreement with the professional National Hockey League can not go into effect for at least two years.

Delegates to the CAHA's annual convention at the Empress Hotel made it a unanimous vote to end the agreement, scheduled to run out in 1968.

CAHA president Lionel Fleury said the agreement was "most detrimental to the association and to amateur hockey. We do not feel any purpose can be served in further negotiations with the NHL."

Fleury added that the CAHA would try to hammer out a new working agreement with the NHL — one more beneficial to the CAHA and to amateur hockey in general.

Gordon Jukes, secretary-manager of the CAHA, said the association wants the NHL to abandon its policy of sponsoring individual teams and institute a universal draft of players over junior age.

New Westminster Defeats Adanacs

NEW WESTMINSTER — A five-goal outburst in the third quarter Thursday night carried New Westminster O'Keefe's to a 5-0 victory over Adanacs.

The teams split six goals in the first half before New Westminster exploded to take complete command of the game.

Defenceman Wayne Shuttleworth sparked the O'Keefe's with two goals and one assist. The other New Westminster goals were split between seven players. Coach Gordie Gimpie of Coquitlam put on the strip for the first time this season and came up with a two-goal effort in a losing cause against New Westminster, who blocked 19 of 22 shots in the first half.

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal magistrates in New York revealed control of boxing and a moratorium on heavyweight title fights until Congress has investigated the sport were proposed Thursday in Washington as critics continued to blast the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fiasco Tuesday at Lewiston, Me.

Fans and newspaper headlines still yelled "Fix", "Fraud" and "Fraud" and more ring investigations were suggested in the wake of the bizarre bout that will enrich Clay and Liston by about $600,000 each.

The coho-king Fisherman Contest five-pound weighers and smaller blues have arrived in the Nanos Bay to Deep Bay waters, with Qualicum Bay and Deep Bay reporting the heaviest.

Gordie Henslip landed a seven-pound coho at Deep Bay on Saturday on a Henry Smith Special spoon. Ray Wallis and Colin Menzies hit fast fishing for blues on the Sunday on bucktail flies.

One party found that by painting flashers and lures red they hit into plenty of coho. There were also many dogfish.

Qualicum Bay produced weighing coho and at Qualicum Beach there were plenty of blues when it was calm enough to fish, but they were pretty deep with four and six ounces needed to reach them.

Salmon fishing is just starting at Campbell River. Portler Pass—Reid Island area is producing both blues and springs. Steve Woloshyn hit a 15-pounder in those waters. A Henry Smith Special fished deep has been producing off Coffin Point near Ladysmith.

Saanich Inlet is starting to pick up with a number of fair sized springs taken at the weekend, although it is still pretty spotty fishing. There are jacksprings for those who wish to go deep.

Wind was so bad at the weekend it has been hard to get a reliable Victoria to Sooke report, but the big springs should start to show now, if they ever will. Some springs in the 20-pound class were reported off Otter Point at the weekend.

A good run of coho is reported three miles offshore at Bamfield.

Black ant hatch started on Cowichan Lake Wednesday afternoon.

The weather has been cooler than usual this year and that could mean a slow ant hatch. If that happens, there may be good fishing over several days. But, if a big hatch comes all at once, trout fishing won't be too good this weekend.

The AOTS trout derby will be held at Cowichan Lake Saturday. Pete Edwards of Cedars Resort reports good fishing from the weir up to the narrows and predicts that if warm weather continues Cowichan Lake should hit its hot period all over the lake by about this weekend.

AOTS weigh-in stations are at Cedars Resort, the government wharf, Cayuse, Honeymoon Bay and Island Marina at Youbou.

There was a good rise of trout on Council Lake last weekend but Shawinigan anglers had powerboat troubles on the holiday weekend.

Nanaimo Lakes are producing. Abner area has been pretty good. Summer steelhead are showing in the Alberni Valley rivers. Spider Lake is producing bass. St. Mary Lake and Quennell Lake are also providing fun for bass fishermen. Cameron Lake is providing the best sport in many years for brown trout, with a record 11.4-pounder reported by Weston Cox last weekend.

Steelhead are in the Nitinat River. The Puntledge has been pretty good. Sooke is giving up estuary cutthroat fishing for fly fishermen, as are most rivers. Best bet of all is the Campbell-Battle Baywards Lakes.

Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association will hold its annual field day and picnic Saturday, with members leaving the Hillside and Douglas parking lot at 9:30 a.m. and meeting at Thetis Lake at 10 a.m. Wear stout shoes and gloves and take along a lunch.

Victoria Fish and Game Club fishing chapters members have decided to assist in the operation of the Fish Builders' Club, which has 10 Saanich Peninsula farmers turning their irrigation ponds into trout fishing ponds for youngsters aged eight to 16.

Members will instruct the youngsters on the finer methods of fishing. Last year 140 members—up 40 from 1963—caught 1,381 trout from the ponds, more than double the 1963 catch. They chalked up a total of 952 fishing days.

Fish Builders' field day will be June 5 in the afternoon at John Sever's pond on Central Saanich Road.

Oak Bay was awarded the Ron Jones Memorial Trophy for the most aggregate points, 198½.

Five senior high schools from Victoria and district along with Claremont competed, with eliminations and field events being staged Tuesday and Wednesday before the final track events Thursday.

Victoria High finished second in the aggregate with 155½ points, followed by Claremont with 104 and Esquimalt with 78½.

Coaches Gary Taylor, Ed Kowalyk, Mrs. Bev Fraser and Ron Edmonds of Oak Bay had their competitors in top shape, with four Oak Bay athletes setting new records.

In all, 15 marks were shattered, 11 by individuals and four by relay teams.

Brian Craig and Stu Bailey of Oak Bay set records in the junior boys' classification. Craig put the shot 46 feet, 3¼ inches while Bailey leaped 40 feet, one-half inch in the triple jump.

Lyn Hagglund and Liz Hibberson also broke marks for Oak Bay. Miss Hagglund threw the discus 106 feet in the senior girls' event while Miss Hibberson ran the junior girls' 220-yard dash in 25.9 seconds.

Other athletes were just as spectacular, and one—Carol Kitchen of Esquimalt—set one record and tied another. Miss Kitchen, in the junior girls' class, ran the 100-yard dash in 11.4 seconds for a new record and tied the 60-yard dash time of 7.4 seconds shared by three former high school stars.

He Looks Impressed

Oscar Waldal of Victoria High, winner of the boys' 880-yard run in yesterday's inter-high school track and field meet, must have said the right thing to Carol Kitchen of Esquimalt. Miss Kitchen, winner of the junior girls' aggregate, set new meet record for the 100 yards and tied record for the 60 yards as well as finishing second at 220 yards.

It Will Go Distance

Race Fans Have Guarantee

By GUY STANLEY

"The Clay-Liston fight may have left a lot of closed-circuit TV fans feeling gipped, but this race is guaranteed to go 500 miles for four hours, regardless of what happens."

So said Hugh Burkmar, president of the Vancouver Island Track Racing Association. He was referring to the VITRA-sponsored May 31 closed circuit telecast of the Indianapolis 500 at the Royal Theatre.

Despite the Clay-Patterson experience, and the problems at the MacPherson Playhouse in finding audiences, VITRA seems to have had no trouble. In fact, Burkmar expects a profit of around $1,200.

"But we're not in this to make money," he said.

VITRA bought two shares of Billy Foster's rear engine Offenhauser at $1,200 each. VITRA hopes to reimburse the club treasury, as well as bring top big-league racing to Victoria.

It looks like their money was well spent, too. Billy Foster of Victoria became the first Canadian to qualify for the race, averaging 158.416 mph in his Offy on May 16 to earn a second-row start.

Burkmar considers Foster's efforts one of the reasons behind the success of ticket sales so far. Already all the $10.00 seats are gone. Out of 240 reserved seats at 7.50, there are only 34 left, and out of 1,215 rush seats at $5.00 each, 400 have been sold.

Nevertheless Burkmar expects there will be tickets available at the door.

And he points out, there will be no standing room. "There will be a seat for every ticket sold."

Also available will be official 112-page Speedway programs. The race preliminaries begin at 8:30 a.m., the race itself starts a half hour later.

LEWISTON, Me. (CP)—Sonny Liston has grossed about $2,800,000 in four heavyweight championship fights that went a total of about 24 minutes in the ring. Figures compiled by the ring record book include the two one-round knockouts of Floyd Patterson, the six completed rounds of the first Clay fight and Tuesday night's appearance.

1883 was a terrible year for Seagram's 83

When Joseph Seagram first brought out 83, he didn't need this big cash register. A little cookie jar would have filled the bill. In those days, people wanted whisky that burned all the way down. This burned up Joseph Seagram, because his 83 was easy tasting, civilized whisky. He would have been up the creek, excepting that something revolutionary took place. The tastes of people changed. All of a sudden, they were demanding smoother and smoother whisky. The burning stuff was out. And easy tasting 83 was in. It's been in ever since.

What's the price of a beautiful '65 Studebaker?

A lot less than you guess!

Before you make any "guessimate" of a Studebaker's price-tag, get an eye-full of the extra-value features you get as standard equipment on every Studebaker model:

Windshield washers, aluminum rustproofing, big 15" wheels for longer tire life, padded dashboard, coil-spring foam cushion seats, luxurious door-to-door rugs (on many models), sturdy Armor Guard frame construction for added safety and strength, full instrumentation, roomy interiors with plenty of hip-room for six adults, ceiling room for hats as well as heads, flat floors for easy getting in and getting out. And a solid 19-gauge steel body that's thicker than other cars in its class. All standard equipment!

In the Daytona Sport Sedan you even get an amazing transistorized ignition for sure-fire starts, improved engine performance, longer life for plugs and points. As standard equipment. (A very low-cost option on all other models.)

When you add up all the quality features you get in a '65 Studebaker, you're going to guess high on the price! Come in—take a look, take a drive, make a deal.

Committee Pushes Banff Games Bid

Wins Trophy

Mrs. Helen Mooney won the Grant Trophy competition which ended at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club yesterday. Mrs. Dolly Williamson was runner-up.

In medal-round action, Mrs. F. Bliss topped silver division with a net 73. Mrs. Mooney won the bronze division with a net 75. "C" division winner was Miss B. Hagan with a net 85.

CALGARY (CP)—Officials of the Calgary Olympic Development Association (Olympic '72 committee) are expected to meet with representatives of the International Ski Federation (FIS) in Marnia, Romania, June 6-11 to promote Canada's bid for the 1972 Olympic winter games.

Hans Maciej, committee manager, said Thursday that the FIS is already familiar with the Banff-Lake Louise area west of Calgary, having visited the region when Canada was a contender for the 1968 winter games.

Canada lost out to Grenoble, France, in the bidding for the 1968 games.

"It will be a case of presenting much the same thing again," Maciej said. He will be accompanied to Romania by Ed Davis, committee president, and Dr. Pat Duffy of Calgary. Maciej was to leave Calgary

Fight Films On Home TV

Last Tuesday's heavyweight championship fight between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston will be shown tomorrow on film and video tape over the American Broadcasting Company television network.

ABC will show the brief action during its regular Saturday sports show, at 4:30 p.m. on Channel 8 and at 5 p.m. on Channel 4.

Maciej said he will be accompanied to Romania by Ed Davis, committee president, and Dr. Pat Duffy of Calgary. Maciej was to leave Calgary yesterday for a three-week trip to Britain and Europe, prior to the Marnia meeting, for talks aimed at improving Canada's chances of getting the 1972 games. He will confer with officials of the Commonwealth winter games committee in London; visit Innsbruck, Austria, site of the 1964 winter games; attend the meeting of the International Skating Congress in Vienna, Austria; and visit the headquarters of the International Olympic Committee in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Maciej said "there is a possibility the Commonwealth Games could come to Canada in 1970 as a warm-up to the 1972 Olympics." The IOC is expected to make a decision on the site of the 1972 games in May, 1966.

Hopes Ended

Roy Emerson lost his chance for a tennis grand-slam this year when he was beaten by fellow-Australian Tony Roche in the quarter-finals of the French international championships, 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0.

Milan Holds European Title

MILAN (AP)—Internazionale of Milan beat Benfica of Lisbon 1-0 Thursday night to win the European soccer championship for the second straight year.

Half-time score was 1-0. A sellout crowd of 90,000 watched. The victory meant that the Italian team will defend its world title against Independiente of Buenos Aires in the World Cup final.

It was the third year in a row that an Italian team has taken the European champions cup. In 1963 before Inter's first conquest of the title, it was won by hometown rival Milan. For two years before that, Benfica held the title.

Jair Da Costa, Inter's brilliant Brazilian ace, made the only goal of Thursday night's game, hooting it in at the 43rd minute of the first half.

Both teams in the final labored under the handicap of rain and a field so wet the game at times looked more like a swimming show than a soccer match.

Despite their defeat, the Portuguese played outstanding soccer, fighting aggressively all the way, adapting their strategy to the soggy field, seldom missing a pass and outtracing their Italian opponents most of the time.

Good news for the man who's over 40 and concerned about his health

When you're over 40 you begin to realize that good health may not always be yours. If you're wise you make the necessary adjustments—you enjoy life, but you don't overtax yourself.

Life insurance suddenly becomes more important, too. You want to make sure that all the gaps are plugged, now.

But uncertain health could make life insurance difficult to buy—more costly. Who can help you?

I think Manufacturers Life probably can. We believe life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible—including people with coronary, high blood pressure, or ulcers, for example—at lowest possible cost. In fact, our company was the first to offer life insurance to men and women with diabetes.

If you are under 80 and worried about your life insurance because you are worried about your health, give me a call. I'll review your present insurance and show you how Manufacturers Life may be able to plug any gaps there are in it—without placing you under any obligation.

COMPARE

Mercury's fuel economy with the fuel economy claimed for competitors' outboards.

At Lake X, Florida, Mercury and competitive brands were tested under identical conditions. All Mercs, from 3.9 to 100 horsepower, outlast competitive brands of comparable horsepower, yet averaged more miles per gallon throughout their speed range.

For example, Merc 900 gives better fuel mileage than the competitors' 90 at all speeds. With the "other" 90 running at full throttle and the Merc 900 cruising alongside at part throttle, Merc goes 30% farther per gallon of fuel. With both motors running at full throttle, the Merc 900 yields 18% more miles per gallon, although it is running 2.5 mph faster.

The Merc 900 averages 30% more miles per gallon than the competitors' 75. Furthermore, the Merc 900 can outrun it by 4 mph and still use less fuel.

The Merc 650 gives more miles per gallon than one of the competitive 40's at all speeds. At the "other" 60's top speed, the Merc 650 shows 38% better fuel mileage.

At "their" 40's most economical speed, our 50 still gives 18% more fuel mileage. At our most economical speed, the difference increases to 34%.

- Our 35 delivers 9% to 20% more miles per gallon than their 23, depending on boat speed.
- Our 23 ranges from 26% to 87% more miles per gallon than their 18.
- Our 9.8 yields 27% to 64% more miles per gallon than their 9.5 at various boat speeds.
- Our 6 gets 43% to 48% more miles per gallon than their 5 1/2.
- Our 3.9 goes up to 20% farther per gallon than their 3 in the speed range most used by fishermen.

Mercury's emphasis is on fuel economy—not oil economy. Good lubrication spells longevity and survival. Weasel-worried warranties are no substitute for proper lubrication. Save where it's safe, and where the savings are big—on fuel. Your Mercury dealer will show you why Merc gives you more RUN for your money... 100, 90, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

ALL-OUT QUALITY ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE BOOSTS POWER THREE WAYS:

- Cleaning Power! Deposits can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Esso Extra will start to clear away these deposits—in new engines or old—to improve power and mileage.
- Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. Esso Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits to help your engine fire smoothly, to help preserve the power of new cars and restore lost power to many older cars.
- Octane Power! Esso Extra has the high octane that high-compression cars now need for full smooth performance without knocking. You'll get all these extras with all-out quality Esso Extra gasoline—it puts a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

...you can go all-out with

Hit-Run Sequel Heard

Courtroom Parade

A trial on a charge of obstructing a police officer was adjourned until June 10 on a legal technicality in Sanjich Magistrate's court Thursday. Prosecution maintained that Roger Lindal, 5191 Rambler, obstructed police in their investigation of a hit-and-run accident when he jumped in his car and drove away over a vacant lot.

The incident occurred after two officers had fitted a piece of chrome found at the scene of an accident to a car parked at the Lindal address.

When they stated that the car would be impounded, Lindal jumped into it and drove away.

But defence counsel W. B. Monteith said that the accused was perfectly within his right to do so, as the police officers, not possessing a search warrant, were in effect trespassing.

Magistrate William Ostler dismissed a related charge of careless driving. Lindal earlier had been convicted of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Don Sprinkling, 1281 Track-sell, was fined $350 for impaired driving and $100 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. In addition, he was restricted to business driving only for six months.

"The handwriting is on the wall," magistrate Ostler told him. "If you keep on drinking, you know what will happen."

Sprinkling had been convicted of hitting a parked car on May 17 on Camrose Crescent.

Gary Child, 17, of 948 Tolmie, was sentenced to six months in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla for driving while under suspension.

He had been raised from juvenile court.

"You have an obsession for automobiles," the magistrate told him, "and while you give lip service to people who tell you not to drive, it is obvious that you do not intend to stop."

Herbert J. Handysides, 4230 Springridge, was fined $350 and restricted to business driving only for four months on a charge of impaired driving.

Ronald Woods, 1256 Oliver, was fined $75 when he pleaded guilty to careless driving. His car rolled after he lost control April 30 on Parker.

Lloyd H. Brydon, 582 Atkins, was fined $40 on a similar charge as a result of an accident May 11 at Douglas and McKenzie.

In city court, Charles H. Rayment of Vancouver was fined $500 and lost his licence for three years on a charge of impaired driving.

He was observed driving about five miles an hour on Rockland April 30, and was unable to operate his push-button transmission when checked.

William Russell, 1736 Newton, and Thomas R. Reid, 233 Menzies, both pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and were fined $45 and $40 respectively.

Russell had been involved in a rear-end collision on Port Street May 1, and Reid's car hit another while he was changing lanes on Pandora May 18.

Michelle Tells Of Bomb Plot

NEW YORK (UPI)—A blonde Canadian testified Thursday in federal court that the alleged ringleader of an American plot to dynamite U.S. national shrines told her he was sure his ring had not been infiltrated by police.

Michelle Duclos, 28, a former Montreal television personality, proved a fascinating witness at the conspiracy trial of three men who allegedly planned to destroy the Statue of Liberty, Washington monument, and Liberty Bell. She told of her involvement in the plot with coy smiles, arching eyebrows and occasional giggles.

Miss Duclos pleaded guilty May 14 to smuggling dynamite and other destructive materials from Canada to New York for the plotters. She testified that the ringleader, Robert Collier, and another defendant known to her only as "Ray" came to her in Montreal last January to get material for plastic bombs.

The witness said she told the Americans that her own Separatist organization got its plastic in New York but that she might be able to round up some dynamite. She said she would let them know when she made a visit to New York in February.

CAUTIONS

"Are you sure you are not infiltrated by police?" she asked. When they replied "Yes" she asked "How can you be sure?"

"Collier replied, 'because we have known each other from childhood,'" she testified.

Times Decides To Stay Daily

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Times, which had announced it would leave the daily newspaper field to become a weekly publication, has decided to remain a daily—at least for the time being.

In a statement Thursday, the Times announced it would continue as a daily until Wednesday, June 2, and that a public meeting would be held that night.

Times executives declined further comment.

In a statement Wednesday, President Val Warren said the afternoon newspaper would publish its last daily edition on Monday, switching to weekly publication the following Thursday, June 3.

At that time he said the newspaper, which began publication Sept. 5, 1964, had lost "more than $1,000,000" in the first nine months of operation. He said then that the Times would revert to daily publication after solidifying its financial position.

Pearson Delays Premier's Talk

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson admitted in the commons Thursday that May 31 has been given up as the date of the proposed federal-provincial meeting.

He said he has written provincial premiers suggesting a date in July because of the heavy agenda of the conference and the planning needed to get on new items requested by the provinces.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes presented the awards at the Victoria Riding Academy's 31st gymkhana held at St. Margaret's School Thursday afternoon. Winner of the trophy donated by Major K. P. Sturgeon for first place in the senior equita-

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: We have some close friends who are dog lovers. Last evening my husband was telling about our eight-year-old son's unusual interest in science. The dog-lover interrupted to tell a story about her poodle. Three years ago, she said, the dog began to take on the personality characteristics of her husband.

"When Tom suffered business reversals and became depressed the dog became depressed, too," she said. "He would not eat a thing. Tom had to go to the hospital. That same day the dog had to go to the hospital because he had become so weak from malnutrition he could barely walk."

She continued, "Six weeks later Tom returned home feeling much better. When the dog was brought home he was still melancholy. Upon seeing his master improved the dog perked right up."

My husband and I believe that pet-lovers who become involved with their animals imagine all sorts of things. We can't buy her story. What do you think?

DOUBTERS

Dear Doubters: Animals have distinct personalities. It is not uncommon for personalities to be influenced by what happens around them. I do not doubt this story for one moment.

Dear Ann Landers: When I married my husband five years ago we were both in our middle 40s. Each year our marriage seemed to be rockier than the year before. I begged him to get professional help but his stock reply was, "I am all right. YOU are the one who is nuts."

Several months ago when my husband became abusive I packed up and left him because I feared for my life.

I haven't seen him for three weeks, but he telephones every day to say he loves me. He wants a divorce so he can start courting me again and decide if we should be remarried.

I'm hoping we can recapture the wonderful joys we knew when we first met. Is there a chance? — DREAMS OF THE PAST

Dear Past: No—and if you would stop dreaming long enough to remember what your marriage was really like you'd know better, too. Why do you think your husband is going to treat you differently the second time around? Get with it, Sister.

Dear Ann Landers: This afternoon I glanced out the window as I was doing my dusting and I just happened to see the woman across the street shaking my four-year-old son by the arm. I dashed out and ordered her to take her hands off my child. She shouted, "Bernard is always hitting my Albert and I'm not going to put up with it any longer."

Both children are four years of age, but my Bernard is a little bit larger than her Albert. I lost my temper and slapped the woman's face. She had metal curlers in her hair which caused a small cut on the side of her cheek.

The minute my husband drove into the garage my neighbor's husband was over here. He told my husband his wife was in bed with an ice pack and under sedation. He said his wife went to pieces after I hit her and they had to call the doctor. The last thing he said was, "There may be a law suit."

If a woman can be sued for protecting her child what kind of a country is this anyway? Please comment.—MRS. X

Dear Mrs. X: The kids are four years old. What's your excuse? Hitting people is called assault and battery and your lawyer can tell you more about the chances of a suit than I can. But apart from possible court action you owe this woman an apology, plus the price of the doctor's visit.

Mrs. Emma H. Spink is 96 today.

Celebrates 96th Year

Mrs. Emma H. Spink is 96 years old today. A resident of Rose Manor for the past 15 years, Mrs. Spink was born in London, England, and was brought to Toronto, Ont., when she was only three months old. She has lived most of her life in Canada except for a 20-year stay in New York State.

When she was married in 1916 her husband Frank, who had previously travelled all over Canada, brought her to Victoria "because it was the only place to live in Canada."

Mrs. Spink who has been sightless for the past 19 years spends most of her time listening to her radio and thoroughly enjoys classical music.

Tribal Methods Won't Work If Human Race to Survive

"Conditions of survival are entirely different from any previous time in human existence," said Dr. Brock Chisholm, emphasizing need of drastically changing behavior patterns if the human species is to survive.

Dr. Chisholm spoke at a meeting of the provincial executive of the Victorian Order of Nurses for British Columbia, at the Royal Victoria Yacht club Thursday.

Intense loyalty to the group into which a person is born, whether the tribe or the nation, is no longer possible, with the existence of "enough armament now available capable of killing everyone in the world five times over," Dr. Chisholm pointed out. "In the smallest unit, the tribe, loyalty is to the chief of the tribe. Everyone else is considered an active or potential enemy."

"But it is not for us to despise this thinking," Dr. Chisholm continued. "On the national level, tribal methods are still being used in an era when they will no longer work."

"When we feel frightened we still increase our ability to kill—it is called strength from negotiation, a standard behavior pattern."

"We will survive as members of the human species, or not at all, and that 'not at all' might be next week."

Dr. Chisholm also spoke of distribution and production of food for the world's population, increasing at an alarming rate.

He described the change in attitude towards hunger, previously accepted with resignation. "It was a thing nobody could do anything about, the result of an angry or foreign god. Previously, nobody blamed people, but now everybody knows starvation isn't necessary."

"But the well-fed and comfortable don't care. There is no conscience value that would make us care, since previously there was no use in caring. But now, hunger arouses hostility and hatred against the world's well-fed and comfortable."

Dr. Chisholm pointed out that this is the first human generation ever capable of destroying the human race.

"But it is also capable of taking charge of our own destiny. We have the facilities, the skill, and knowledge but we are not using it because we don't care. We are concerned with our own little affairs which are irrelevant to human survival."

The answer lies in individual people "emotionally growing up to a stage of world responsibility, and seeing that children grow up without the roadblock of national loyalties," Dr. Chisholm concluded.

Vancouver QC Heads VON

Mr. G. Roy Long Jr., QC, of Vancouver, was named new president of the provincial executive of the Victorian Order of Nurses, at their annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the Yacht Club.

Others on the new executive are Mrs. Charles P. McQueen, first vice-president; Mrs. J. Dingwall, second vice-president; Mr. Bart McCafferty, treasurer; Mrs. H. T. Ramsden, secretary; and Mrs. Kay Powell, recording secretary.

Members at large are Mrs. F. Norris, Victoria; Mrs. R. S. Manson, Vancouver; Mrs. E. G. Shorter, North Vancouver; Mrs. L. World, Burnaby, and Mr. O. Lazarre, Surrey.

Mrs. Harold Webster, president of the Victoria board, presided at the luncheon meeting, at which Alderman Lily Wilson and Reeve Allan Cox welcomed delegates to the city.

During afternoon meeting, Miss Christine McArthur of Ottawa spoke on national office of the VON. Provincial and local officers gave reports of the year's activities.

Provincial board president Mr. Bart McCafferty outlined history of the VON, which grew from a request from Vancouver in 1897, asking for nurses for outlying district, Halifax Local Council of Women also asked for a national nursing service in commemoration of Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

"At one time, the order was the only available public health nursing service in the province. As she still is in some provinces, the VON nurse was the school nurse. The order provided well-baby clinics, healthy instruction for babies in the home, prenatal classes and as always, bedside nursing in the home of the patient."

"Gradually, local governments and the province of British Columbia have taken over most of the services pioneered by the order. Bedside nursing is the one remaining function. While the order has of late gone into physiotherapy, rehabilitation nursing and housekeeping and is using male nurses, these adjustments are for the patient in his own home."

Mr. McCafferty spoke of attending the national annual meeting in Niagara Falls this year.

He said that the Hall Commission "believes that bedside nursing in the home is important—to increase the morale of the patient, and to free beds for new patients."

Highlight of the report of Victoria president Mrs. Harold Webster was formation of a counselling service for senior citizens, "a logical service as 14 per cent of the population served is over 70." Mrs. Webster also reported an increase in psychiatric referrals.

Local nurses demonstrated rehabilitation equipment in use by nurses in the home, including a special lift to transfer patients from beds to wheelchairs.

Travelling to Boston

The musical Robert M. Adamson family are also concerned with graduations. Bob and Mary Adamson and daughter Toni, who has finished Grade 12 and hopes to make dancing her career, leave this morning for Boston.

En route they stop at Banff to see son, Phillip, who will further his piano studies under Boris Roubakine at the Banff

School of Fine Arts this summer.

In Boston they will attend the ceremonies at Boston University when son Michael will graduate with a Bachelor of Music degree.

Before returning to Victoria the Adamsons will go to Toronto where they will stay for about 12 days with Mrs. Adamson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Wright.

In Vancouver

Mr. and Mrs. Walde Skillings are off to Vancouver to see their son, David, receive his law degree at the University of British Columbia graduation. They will spend a few days in Vancouver. David will be coming back to Victoria with his parents.

Ceremonies for Old Grads

Ken and Vera Drury of Victoria and Vancouver have been in New York at the Barbizon Plaza while attending the ceremonies at Columbia University.

Columbia with the Class of '45. At Columbia they really rolled out the red carpet for the "Old Grads" for the three days with as many dinners and a finale at the Ballet in the Lincoln Theatre.

ST. JOHN'S WA

St. John's Woman's Auxiliary Evening Branch will meet at 8 p.m., June 1, in the Fire-side Room.

Rugged Russian Shoppers

By M. SHARP

MOSCOW (Special) — To go shopping in Moscow, one needs the strength of a Russian bear, the patience of a Ukrainian cow, and elbows like a Siberian reindeer's antlers.

To a foreigner like myself it can be very colorful and rather amusing; but to Russians who have to go through the endurance contest to survive, it is a harsh reality.

Shortly after I arrived in Moscow, I met a pretty young Russian girl who told me: "I hate shopping here. It takes so much time and patience. I'd rather wear a three-year-old dress than go to the effort of finding a new one."

I'd been through the experience myself, so I knew what she was talking about. Trying to get to a counter to buy something is like launching an attack on Vimy Ridge. And the shopper doesn't always emerge victorious.

I tried to get near a hat bar in the colossal GUM department store to find out the prices of the Soviet lady's chapeau. I lost the battle and had to retreat after being elbowed out of position so many times I was still fourth row away from the counter after half an hour.

It seems that pushing and shoving is the Russians' favorite sport.

Being a female doesn't help either. A lady gets no leniency when it comes to standing in line or trying to get into a bus or elevator. The words "politeness" or "manners" have no meaning here so it's every man (or woman) for himself. As far as I'm concerned Russian women have earned too much equality.

Van Kooten-Beardmore

Married Up-Island

PORT ALBERNI — Knox Presbyterian Church was decorated with red tulips and white lilac for the ceremony uniting in marriage Enid Ann Beardmore and Mr. Johannes Van Kooten.

Rev. D. C. Smith officiated at the wedding for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Beardmore, now of Nanaimo and formerly of Port Alberni, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Van Kooten, Alberni.

With Mrs. J. Mowat at the organ, Mrs. Christine Green-eved sang "As Dawns the Day" during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a princess style, street-length gown, featuring sequin trim and lily-point sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a wedding ring crown studded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Maïron of honor, Mrs. Arlene Roberts, wore a blue satin brocade ensemble and carried yellow marguerites.

Mr. Jake Van Kooten was best man and ushering was Mr. John Van Kooten.

A three-tiered cake, flanked by white tapers, centred the head table at the reception which followed in the Rosebank.

Master of ceremonies Mr. Tom Jones proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving on a wedding trip which will take the young couple to Kingston, Ont., to attend the Military College graduation of the bride's brother, Mr. R. J. Beardmore, the bride wore a bright yellow nubby rayon two-piece suit with white accessories.

If you know the difference between Sterling Silver and Silver Plate...you'll understand why Armstrong Corlon is a superior sheet vinyl floor

In sterling, the silver is solid—through the product. It's not merely a surface coating as in silver plate.

The same is true of the colour design in an Armstrong Corlon Vinyl floor.

The colours are solid. Not printed on the surface. They go right through to the backing. The result is permanent beauty.

When you consider the extra years of wear you get from Corlon, it isn't really expensive.

And take cleaning! Ordinary household spills can't mar Corlon. A quick once-over with a damp mop removes dust and dirt. And only occasional waxing is needed.

Some Corlons have a gently textured surface which helps hide accidental scuffs and heel marks. And some designs are available with a Hydrocord backing—an Armstrong exclusive which resists alkaline moisture so you can install these special floors in any room—even in most downstairs playrooms, directly over concrete.

Corlon comes in long, wide rolls, giving your room the modern wall-to-wall effect. The few seams are barely visible. We'll send you a free sample of Corlon and Colourful booklets showing styles and colourings of all Armstrong Corlon floors. Write—Armstrong Cork Canada Limited, Dept. T363 P.O. TB Society Curtails Grants

R.C.'s Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Society is running in the red. Work and grants of the society will be sharply curtailed in the next six months because of the deficit.

Society president R. A. Barnard told delegates to the society's annual meeting in Vancouver that major medical research and survey programs exceeded the operational budget.

CUT BACK
He said medical research and rehabilitation grants will be curtailed, and health centre construction grants will probably be cut back.

Garage, Bakery Planned

A $45,000 service station will be opened in Town and Country shopping centre within three months, and a $40,000 wholesale bakery plant may be built at McKenzie and Borden.

Saanich council has approved an application by Pacific Petroleum Ltd. to open a service Douglas across from the shopping centre's supermarket.

QUICK START
Dominion Construction will start building the station next week and a spokesman predicted it will be completed in 2½ to three months.

Dominion is leasing the property to Pacific but the oil company will own the station. It is expected to have additional bays for car-washing facilities.

Brodie's Bakery Ltd. has applied to rezone seven lots in the McKenzie-Borden area from residential to light industrial.

The company will be moving its wholesale baking operation out of 2633 Douglas within a year and is considering building a $40,000 plant at the McKenzie-Borden location.

Saanich's planning department has recommended another six lots in the area also be rezoned and the proposal will go before a public hearing in the near future.

Victoria Christmas Seal Convention chairman Mrs. M. Albrecht said TB skin testing and chest X-ray survey begins in January, 1966. When Operation Doublestep's all-out TB skin testing and chest X-ray survey begins in January, 1966, we'll have a chance to see our Christmas Seal dollars at work on our own doorstep," she said.

- Reconditioning of lawns that are in bad shape.
- Rearranging overgrown gardens so there will be far less upkeep and yet the garden looks much better.

FRUIT and ORNAMENTAL TREES, ROSES

All planted in whalehide containers and thus can be transplanted any time without any damage to root systems or interruption of growth. We have a special fine collection of roses.

TOP SOIL

By far the cheapest and best fertilizer for your lawn and shrubs. If applied as topdressing (one yard for every 600 sq. feet) it will after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made. Top-dressed lawns moreover are far less vulnerable to weeds and most important of all require less watering. In comparison, one dollar will buy only about 15 pounds of fertilizer which at best contains only 3 pounds of plant food. It will therefore only act as a shortlived stimulant without any lasting value.

There is no substitute for weed-free topsoil. Remember: The cost of de-weeding is such that in comparison to weed-free soil, topsoil that is infested with weeds, has hardly any value.

(optional extra at additional cost from factory)

combines true sports car performance with comfort and convenience.

The new TR4A takes the curves faster, safer and more comfortably. We chose independent rear suspension because it has the best anti-roll characteristics. Ours is the trailing arm type (using coil springs and piston dampers) for utter simplicity and reliability. Ideal for track racing.

Release two catches on the windscreen rail and the top goes down. A neat cover hides it. And it comes up just as quickly.

You'll relax at top speed (120 m.p.h. on the track) in new space-age contour bucket seats. And with the new improved version (110 BHP) of the famous 4-cylinder 2.2 litre Triumph engine you go from 0 to 50 in 7.9 seconds.

The gears (4-speed box) are synchromesh. And mammoth disc brakes stop faster, straighter. No fade, no pull.

Luxurious interiors include thick pile carpet—walnut-trimmed instrument panel, with padded dash. All switches recessed.

The fly-off brake is now centrally mounted on the transmission tunnel and the dip lights are foot operated.

Framing the Picture

By M. V. CHESTNUT

Earlier in this series on bedding plants, I mentioned the desirability of massing your colors boldly — of filling a good-sized flower bed entirely with one kind of plant and in one color to create a really eye-catching display. To make an even more striking picture, though, it is common practice to edge the bed with a narrow, low border of dwarf, compact plants in a contrasting color. This, in effect, frames the picture and makes it stand out.

Probably the most widely used of all edging plants in sweet alyssum, for it has all the virtues we look for in bedding plants: neat, compact, early blooming and ever-blooming.

Carpet of Snow is a fine white variety, making a mound about a foot across and only four inches high, creating a pleasing lace-edged effect, especially good when the bed is filled with flowers in a "strong" color, such as the scarlet salvia or brick-red geraniums.

Other colors are available, particularly Royal Carpet in mauve-purple, making a plant about the same size as Carpet of Snow. Last summer, in Edmonton, I saw a flower bed filled with pale yellow snapdragons edged with alternate plants of purple and white alyssum; the effect was very attractive. There are two pink varieties of sweet alyssum, Pink Heather and Rosie O'Day, but I can't say I am overly impressed by these newcomers; on my soil their color was muddy and lacked sparkle. A new one which I haven't seen yet is Navy Blue, advertised as dwarf and spreading and a good clear dark blue.

If you garden on slug-infested ground, better lift the spreading foliage of your sweet alyssum occasionally and take a look, for while slugs don't seem to attack the plant, they love the cool daytime shade and shelter it provides. Tuck a few slug pellets under the spread of the shoots if these slimy creatures are seen. Incidentally, if you have more sweet alyssum plants than you need when setting out your border, put one up and bring it in the house for its sweet fragrance.

Another thoroughly reliable edging plant is lobelia, but in buying your plants make sure you get the dwarf kind and not one of the trailing varieties used for dangling from hanging baskets and window boxes. Crystal Palace makes a neat four-inch plant with dark green leaves and navy blue flowers.

Blue Gown, sometimes known as Bluestone, is a clear gentian blue, while Mrs. Chibran is dark blue with a glistering white eye. I was disappointed in the much touted red lobelia Rosamund, for again the color lacked clarity.

For a yellow, gold or orange border around your flower bed, it is pretty hard to beat the Petite class of marigold. These grow only six to eight inches tall, very tidy and compact, coming into bloom very early, and literally smothering themselves with flowers all summer long. In addition to pale yellow, gold and deep orange, two bicolor Petites are available; Brittany and Petite Harmony, both in maroon and gold.

Earlier in this series I mentioned Ageratum Blue Mink as a fine edging plant. This is a fairly new tetraploid variety making husky little plants six inches tall, with fluffy flowers in a soft powder blue shade, very good against the fire-engine red of salvia or the bright gold of marigolds.

Other ageratums are Dwarf Blue Reeder, four inches, lavender blue, early and free flowering; Blue Ball, six inches in a deep, clear blue, and Hybrid Blue Blazer, the first hybrid ageratum, six inches in iris blue, and the earliest of all its family.

ART BUCHWALD Judges a Pet Show

The Kennedys Hate to Lose

WASHINGTON — The North-west Settlement House in Washington, D.C., held a charity pet show at Hickory Hill, the home of Sen. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy, and as luck would have it I happened to be one of the judges.

Judging a pet show can be a very difficult proposition under the best of circumstances, but judging one at the home of the Kennedys can be almost impossible. It is no secret the Kennedys like to win at anything they compete in and a pet show is no exception.

When I first arrived, Ethel Kennedy said she didn't want to do anything to influence my judging, but she introduced me to each one of her children "just so you will know who they are."

There were about 500 children, including my own, competing for nine classes of prizes, and each mother kept a beady eye on me as I tried to judge the winners.

The first category gave us no trouble because it had to do with cats and the Kennedys had failed to enter it.

But I knew I was in trouble with the second class, which was feathered birds. One of the Kennedy children had entered two birds in this class and, when he only won second prize, a look of horror appeared on Ethel Kennedy's face. I shrugged my shoulders and tried not to look at her.

The next class was fish and the first prize went to the person with the largest fish. Bobby Kennedy Jr. had gone down to his pond and brought back a trout, which put everyone else's goldfish to shame.

I had no choice but to give him a blue ribbon. Many of the mothers started muttering and we were forced to make an announcement: "The judges would appreciate it if Mrs. Kennedy did not applaud so loudly when one of her children wins a prize."

In the trick class the oldest of the Kennedy children, Joe Kennedy, produced a giant Newfoundland named Brumby. Brumby's tricks consisted of attacking other dogs, children and adults, and Mrs. Rowland Evans, the chairman of the pet show, ordered him out of the ring. Joe Kennedy and Ethel Kennedy were in tears.

Then we got to the most unusual pet class. This was a tough one, because one of the Kennedy children brought in either a large lizard or a small alligator. My eight-year-old daughter had entered a hamster and I was in a tough spot.

Mrs. Kennedy kept tugging my arm and my daughter kept tugging my shirt. I decided that there was a tie for first place—the Kennedy child for the most unusual pet and my daughter was given first prize for "the most unusual hamster entered by a child whose father was a judge."

This didn't go over very well with the other mothers, nor with the fathers who were there.

Teddy Kennedy wanted to know why his kid didn't get a prize for her goldfish and Mrs. Stephen Smith, sister of Teddy, insisted her son's snake had been discriminated against. I gave them each honorable mentions.

The dog class gave me the most trouble. For one thing, Mrs. Kennedy sent Brumby back into the ring, and he had to be thrown out again. For another, almost every child there had a dog, including my own son's Bassett hound.

I pretended I didn't know who my son was and gave him a blue ribbon for having the dog with the longest nose, and then I gave Sargent Shriver's daughter a blue ribbon for best pair of dogs in the show.

MAUREEN O'HARA Confides in SHEILAH GRAHAM

Diamonds Consoling

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — "I have told Rick's family I am quite prepared to sign a paper that, in the event of our marriage, he can leave me completely out of his will," Maureen O'Hara told me. "There are always problems when there is a large amount of money." Earline "Bibi" Parra is one of the richest men in Mexico. He has been separated from his wife for at least 10 years. He has been in love with the fiery-haired Irish-born actress for at least five. And she with him. "All I can say about him," Maureen said, "is that he is the best man I have ever met." I asked Maureen: "Do you think you and Mr. Parra will ever be able to marry?" "There was a hint of tears in her eyes as she replied, "I hope and pray we can."

The beautiful star who recently completed her 50th film, This Rare Breed, with Jimmy Stewart, was formerly Mrs. Will Price. He died a few years after their stormy divorce. Their daughter, Bronwyn, is now 20 years old and recently returned to Hollywood from the Philippines where she co-starred in a picture with John Saxon. Bronwyn was leaving with her mother in the morning for their home in Mexico City. Mr. Parra, who had been visiting in Hollywood, preceded them there by a few days to get things shipshape for the woman he loves and on whom he has showered some gorgeous emeralds and rubies and diamonds and diamonds and diamonds which, if I were in Miss O'Hara's position, would certainly help to ease the anxieties of a long courtship.

But the gems have caused a problem that, again, I wouldn't mind having to grapple with. "Did you know," Maureen asked me, "that insurance companies will not insure the jewels of many famous actresses and other prominent personalities? They're too well publicized. Because of this I have to keep my beautiful necklaces, rings and everything in a vault at my bank. They are never in my house. When I want to wear them for a party or a public function, my brother and I go to the vault, I wear them for the occasion and then immediately afterwards we pass them on to someone for safe-keeping. I am now trying to get Lloyds of London to insure them. I am hoping they will take into consideration my good record. I have never had a jewel robbery. If they turn me down, I may sell all the jewels."

Not that Maureen needs the money. You don't, when you have a billionaire beau.

Apart from Mr. Parra, the jewels, oil wells and other investments, Miss O'Hara has the sole distinction of any actress I know, from Garbo to Elizabeth Taylor, of having been on a payroll, every single week for the past 25 years.

"I was originally signed by Charles Laughton in London for Jamaica Inn, which Alfred Hitchcock directed. Charles brought me to Hollywood where I had a long-term contract 52 weeks of the year with RKO." The attractive star then went to 20th Century-Fox where I believe she made her first picture for John Ford who always grabs her when she is available. Then seven years at Universal. "And this summer I will finish my contract with Columbia." The deal was originally for five years, but the payments were spread over 10. "I made only three pictures for Columbia in these 10 years, and they paid me every week," said Maureen blissfully.

Statistics Can Lie, Says

SYDNEY HARRIS

I was waiting for a friend in a cocktail lounge (what a ghastly name) when I overheard the man in the next booth say to his female companion, "Well, yes, I am married . . . but only technically." And I wondered in what other way one can be married except technically?

His remark—apparently a prelude to seduction—reminded me of what a statistician told me some time ago. It seems that when the last census was taken in Poland, in 1960, it turned out that there were some 200,000 more married women than men in the country.

Since each man can have only one wife, there was considerable consternation among the census-takers. Upon closer examination, it was found that the definition of "marriage" was taken by the people to include various forms and states of alliances.

For instance, separated couples were considered divorced, whether or not divorce decrees had yet been awarded. Therefore, common-law wives often told the census-taker they were married, while common-law husbands claimed to be single.

Separated wives considered themselves married, while separated husbands did not. The validity of the statistics depended both on what the census-takers called "marriage" and on what the people themselves called "marriage."

While this discrepancy of 200,000 more "wives" than "husbands" is amusing or shocking, depending on your point of view, it should alert us to adopt a more skeptical reaction to similar statistics we are offered almost daily.

The "unemployment" figures are a good example. Different organizations will offer figures that are poles apart, because "unemployment" means different things. Some figures include those temporarily between jobs; those just graduated from college; those who have dropped out of high schools; wives who once worked and now do no longer; and so on, in a dozen categories.

Marriage is a legal state, and employment is an economic state—but there are social and psychological factors at work in both areas that make them difficult to tie down.

"Delinquency" and "the crime rate" are also vague and ambiguous concepts, because no two communities agree on what they are, or have the same method of reporting them.

Is the death rate from heart disease increasing? Is homosexuality increasing? Both answers seem to be "yes"—but, again, is the first a matter of better diagnosis, and is the second a matter of greater freedom of expression?

The world of statistics and the world of reality do not always revolve in the same orbit, and until we can agree on our meanings, our charts will remain nearly meaningless.

'Quake' Here in June

A major earthquake will shake-jar and thousands of dollars for southern Vancouver Island property damage—but it will be June 10, causing scores of in-only make-believe.

The occasion is a full-scale Saanich civil defence exercise scheduled for 7:30 p.m. June 10 at the Beaver Lake beach area. It is based on an imaginary major quake, and will demonstrate the role each civil defence service would play in a real disaster.

Saanich civil defence administrative officer Alex Coldwell will direct the exercise, and officials hope it will encourage greater public participation in civil defence work.

The exercise will include a demonstration and display of radiological detection equipment and communication and wardens networks, search and recovery by divers of a capsized vessel, rescue operations from the pavilion roof, metal-cutting operation, fire-fighting and police work.

Up-Island riders moved into U-Tree Highlanders riding club grounds Thursday, preparing for the start of a 100-mile trail ride due to start early this morning.

Victoria horsemen will be moving in this morning for the first leg of the trip through the Highlands and some of the finest scenery on Vancouver Island.

On the first day the ride will wind through a trail in the Goldstream area to Shield's Lake, seven miles north of Saanich, where a base camp will be set up.

From this point, riders will travel seldom-seen trails, returning to camp each night at dusk.

Entry for this year's event has been held to 40 riders to make a more manageable group. Riders will return to the starting point Monday.

Oak Bay recreation commission is planning a working conference of playground supervisors from Greater Victoria.

About 80 supervisors and assistants will attend.

Recovered Goya Attracts Throng

LONDON (UPI)—The Goya painting of the Duke of Wellington was put back on public display Thursday for the first time since the $392,000 masterpiece was stolen almost four years ago. Art lovers jammed the national gallery amid a triple security guard.

Scotland Yard continued to hunt for the thief. An anonymous letter tipped officials last week that the painting was stored in a baggage claim room of Birmingham's railway station.

Japanese Logan Group Plan for Wind, Cold Advice to Climbers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ten Japanese, coming to Canada to climb 19,000-foot Mount Logan had better plan for "high winds, cold and long periods of bad weather."

Jim Craig, the only Canadian to accompany Senator Robert Kennedy up the Yukon mountain named for the late president John Kennedy, offered the advice Thursday.

He also offered his company: "It's quite a coincidence," the Vancouver lawyer said.

PLANNING CLIMB
"I had been planning to climb Logan sometime in June but couldn't get a party together. I'd love to go with them. I'd supply all my own gear and whatever else is necessary."

Mount Logan, in the southwest corner of the Yukon, is about 75 miles west of Mount Kennedy, scene of the expedition led by the brother of the late president last March.

However, Mount Logan is some 6,000 feet higher than Mount

How a dour Scot rebelled against tradition and started to make gin instead of you-know-what.

In 1769, a dour old Scot named Alexander Gordon packed up his money and came to London. Where he built himself a gin distillery, of all things.

His clan was outraged. And vowed never to allow Gordon to set foot in the highlands again.

And the English laughed at him. Until they tasted his gin. Whereupon, they smiled with pleasure.

And then, not only did the English adopt Gordon as one of their own, but swore he was the greatest English gin maker of all time.

Today, Gordon's is the best-selling gin in the world. Because Gordon's descendants are as canny as he was.

Nobody but Gordon's makes Gordon's Gin, no matter where it's made—and it's made in 9 different countries, including Canada. The exact and original formula is never varied for any reason whatsoever. Ever.

And nobody but Gordon's can approve the finished gin for bottling.

Once bottled, it needs one more approval. Yours.

Car Rate Probe Due

VANCOUVER (CP)—The attorney-general's department will investigate car insurance rate increases that will range between five and 10 per cent in British Columbia.

A spokesman for the department said in a telephone interview Thursday that the investigation will be included in one

Hospital Bids 'Shock'

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Health Minister Martin charged Thursday contractors' low bids on hospital construction often far exceed project estimates.

Martin told the annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. there was no shortage of money for hospital construction, but contractors' low bids often came as a shock.

"The Cowichan and District Hospital at Duncan was to cost $3,000,000, but the low bid was $1,000,000 over the estimated cost," he told 500 nurses at the meeting.

"In the case of the hospital project at Comox the low bid still under way into the last increase in rates.

Meanwhile Cyril Sheffield, Social Credit member of the legislature for Omineca, said the increase means that government-operated car insurance now is a must in B.C.

The Canadian Underwriters Association, representing about 40 per cent of the car insurance companies in Canada, announced the rate increase Wednesday.

The association is the leading rate-setter in the industry and other companies are expected to follow suit. Effective date of the increase—five per cent on bodily injury and property damage insurance and 10 per cent on collision and comprehensive insurance—was not announced.

"RIDICULOUS"

The last rate increase was 20 per cent in January, Mr. Sheffield demanded an inquiry into the rates then. He said the results of the inquiry should determine whether public or private insurance was best for B.C.

Meanwhile, Robert Strachan, New Democratic Party leader, said:

"This is becoming utterly ridiculous. People are crazy if they don't insist on a government insurance plan."

TOYOTA CROWN

Canada's first limousine quality car priced at $2625.00

Presumptuous? Not at all. The Toyota Crown is indeed a limousine quality car. It is used daily by statesmen and company presidents in Japan and many other parts of the world. That, in fact, is how Toyota earned its enviable international reputation. The Toyota Crown has demonstrated its superb quality and reliability over thousands of miles of swift, silent and trouble-free driving in countries whose highways are decades behind Canada's in development.

The Toyota Crown should never be classed with lesser automobiles whose low prices are achieved only by sacrificing equipment necessary for your comfort and convenience. Every Toyota Crown comes equipped with undercoating; white wall tires; door-to-door deep pile carpeting; padded dash; seat belts; window washers; back-up lights and courtesy lights. Skeptics will doubt that a car of Toyota's quality, so equipped, can sell for just $2625.00. They doubted too, that high quality cameras could be sold for less.

Canadian Motor Industries is proud to offer the Toyota Crown to Canadians. We are determined to maintain Toyota's international reputation for excellence. That's why we instituted our policy of 24-hour service protection from coast to coast. We invite you to visit your CMI dealer and inspect the Toyota Crown—the car with the international reputation for excellence.

Dominion Drama Festival

Segregated, Say Actors

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — here this week at the Dominion Drama Festival complained Thursday that they are not getting a chance to meet and exchange ideas about amateur theatre work across the country.

In interviews and at festival social functions, the actors, actresses, directors and stage crews said their main complaint is that they have been scattered in small hotel and motel accommodations all over the city, while the executives and governors of the festival are all living in Brockville's biggest hotel.

ERROR

Mrs. Paddy Malcolm, director of the Vernon, B.C. Little Theatre group which will present The Firebugs Saturday night, said:

"They should have put all the companies in the big hotel so that we could get to know one another. Directors of the festival all know each other already."

Mrs. Malcolm said she felt strongly that one of the main purposes of the festival should be to allow groups to exchange ideas with others.

INFORMAL

The British Columbia east held its own party Wednesday night, shunning the main entertainment. Many of the other groups have been doing the same thing all week, organizing informal gatherings at their various motels and hotels.

"It's the only way we can get to meet anybody," said Charles King, a member of the east of The Hostage, staged Monday night by Lakeside Theatre productions of Ottawa.

Arab A-Bomb Feared

The state of Israel is in great potential danger because of the "crazy decision" by the United Arab Republic to do an atomic Pearl Harbor on Israel one day, Israeli Ambassador Gershon Avner said in Victoria Thursday.

They hope to press a button and hit the centre of our population with something close to a knockout, before we can defend ourselves," said Mr. Avner.

"This is not a real threat in 1965, but it might be in 1967 or 1968." He said material for the U.A.R.'s atomic ambition was coming from Russia.

ARMY BURDEN

The ambassador to Canada said the need to develop a deterrent to the military threat of the Arabs was a great burden on the economy of his country.

—William Beacher
Avner

A second great burden, he said, resulted from Israel's policy of unrestricted immigration. To the 2,500,000 population in the 8,000-square-mile nation will be added another 60,000 immigrants this year, as for each of the past two. "About 90 per cent of these immigrants are more or less penniless."

"They are generally unskilled, and come largely from North Africa, with some from Europe."

DOOR OPEN

The ambassador said his country had no intention of changing its open-door policy. As far as expenditure on armaments was concerned — "We have one of the heaviest defence budgets proportionately in the world"—he could not see an easing-up as long as Arab policy is aggressive.

Concerning Arabs in the internal life of the nation, Mr. Avner said a quarter of the population is Arabic.

"Arabic is the second language, and those speaking the language have the right to use their native tongue anywhere in the country—in government offices, the court and in parliament."

HEBREW USED

The language of newspapers, radio and TV, however, is generally Hebrew, with some special bulletins and broadcasts in other languages for new immigrants.

"There is one national daily newspaper in English."

Although the country is continuously increasing its industrial and agricultural output and the standard of living keeps rising, "Israel has a very adverse international balance of payments situation."

"Our economy can only pay for about 54 per cent of our imports. To fill the gap we depend on massive outside aid."

EEC HOPES

For the future, the ambassador hopes his country may work within the European Economic Community.

"Negotiations are now taking place so that we are not outside the EEC tariff wall."

"Our economic future lies in specialization, in the way that Switzerland is able to function, though lacking in extensive raw materials."

In Canadian-Israeli trade relations, Israel is Canada's best customer in the Middle East. "We take one-third of the goods Canada ships to this area."

IMPORTS

And what does Canada buy from Israel?

"Polished diamonds, citrus fruits and their byproducts, sheet glass, cotton yarns and threads and clothing, including fashion wear such as bathing suits."

The ambassador was in Victoria as part of a national get-acquainted tour. He had lunch Friday with Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes.

Tournament At Ganges

Bandits Flee Through Police Line

MONTREAL (CP)—An unarmed passerby was shot in the stomach and a girl cashier suffered a fractured skull from the blows of revolver butts during the brutal armed robbery of a suburban caisse populaire (credit union) Thursday by four armed and hooded men.

Michener

Liberals Suggest A Tory

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition party leaders were asked Thursday to state their views about the "acceptability" of former Commons Speaker Roland Michener for the post of permanent Speaker.

Labor Minister MacEachen issued the invitation as he outlined to the Commons government compromise proposals aimed at winning Opposition support for resolutions to streamline the rules and procedures of the House.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said last week a permanent Speaker removed from politics is essential if new rules are to work. He suggested the incumbent, Liberal Alan Macnaughton, would be acceptable to him.

Pope Plans Poland Visit First Trip to Red State

WARSAW (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will visit Poland next year to help celebrate the millennium of Polish Roman Catholicism, church sources said Thursday.

The sources said the Pope will arrive in Poland May 3, 1966, and will visit Poland's Roman Catholic shrine of Czestochowa. It would be the first visit by any Pope to a Communist country.

She'll Keep Her Arm

Alaska Shaken

ANCHORAGE (AP)—A mild, brief earthquake shook Eielson Air Force base near Fairbanks at 9:55 a.m. Thursday, the Alaska command reported here.

Bourguiba Out in Cold

CAIRO (UPI)—Arab League proposals for negotiation with Israel were rejected Thursday by the Arab League summit conference, which was boycotted by Bourguiba, also announced determination to uphold the resolutions of the two past Arab summits calling for the liberation of Palestine.

Israeli Raiders Hit Three Jordan Towns

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli raiders attacked three Jordanian towns early today in retaliation for alleged "acts of sabotage" on Israel earlier this week. An Israeli military communiqué said seven Israeli soldiers were injured when a hand grenade accidentally blew up while the raiding parties were returning to their base.

"Our forces completed the task in three sectors and accomplished their objectives," the communiqué said.

Dog Downs Helicopter

PORT McNEILL — A Vancouver helicopter demonstrating a new method of firefighting here was felled by an irate Boxer dog as the craft attempted to land.

In spite of the pilot's efforts to outmaneuver the animal, the dog leaped into the air and seized the rear rotor. The crash landing caused about $1,000 damage to the helicopter and the dog lost a few teeth.

Sewage: Raw or Treated?

Stout Defence In Gorge War

Saanich officials Thursday stoutly defended an application to dump treated effluent into Gorge waterway, in the face of strong objections from property owners.

The debate took place at the annual meeting of Capital Region branch, Community Planning Association.

Reacting to moves by Gorge area residents to have the association support protests against the sewage-dumping, Saanich Coun. Leslie Passmore said:

"It is a choice between allowing untreated sewage from septic tanks to spill into the Gorge, or discharging regulated amounts of treated effluent into the waterway."

A provincial government department has applied for permission to dump 90,000 gallons a day, and Saanich has submitted an application to dump 35,000 gallons a day into the Gorge.

These applications come before the Pollution Control Board this morning. Protests can be made up to June 19.

Said Coun. Passmore: "Saanich has two or three inches of red soil, and then thousands of feet of clay going clear to China."

He said this means raw sewage from septic tanks can not be absorbed and comes quickly to the surface.

Earlier Thursday, F. T. Worth, 275 Ashley, charged that Portage Inlet residents are being deliberately worn down in their efforts to protect waters near their homes from sewage.

"We fought this battle in 1962," he said. "We fought this battle in 1964."

"And now we're being forced to fight it again."

"The first application was in 1962, when Saanich wanted to dump 90,000 gallons a day."

Beach Water Tested

Water at Greater Victoria beaches is being sampled to determine pollution level.

This sampling will take in all local popular swimming beaches, according to Elwood Gripp, director of sanitation services of the Metropolitan Health Board.

Japan's West Next Stop For Mission

TOKYO (AP)—An economic mission from British Columbia left Tokyo today for a four-day tour of industrial and tourist areas in western Japan.

The mission is headed by Premier Bennett.

The group will visit steel and shipbuilding sites in Osaka and four ancient temples in the former Japanese capital of Kyoto. They will return to Tokyo May 31.

The delegation arrived in Tokyo May 24 for an 11-day visit.

'Flying Lab' Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The federal space agency Thursday night called off plans to shoot a "physics lab" satellite into orbit today. The shot was rescheduled for Saturday.

A space agency spokesman said the launching, which earlier had been advanced from June 2, simply could not be readied in time.

'Relatively Junior Post' on Truce Team

Martin Says Viet Nam Critic Failed to Get Big Picture

OTTAWA (CP)—Criticism by a former air force officer of Canada's role in Viet Nam may have arisen from his "relatively junior" post on the international truce supervisory commission, External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday.

He told the Commons that former Squadron Leader H. H. Campbell, now civil defence coordinator of Campbell River, may not have formed a "comprehensive view" of the work of the commission manned by Canada, India and Poland.

Mr. Martin was responding to a request from Social Credit Leader Thompson to give an answer to statements by Mr. Campbell that Canada took a "weak-kneed and jelly-spined stand" on the commission.

Mr. Campbell charged that

Canada showed favoritism to the United States in its role on the commission. He served in Viet Nam in 1961 and 1962.

Mr. Martin said that "within the provisions of the Official Secrets Act" there is no objection to former officers stating their personal views.

However, he found it hard to see how anyone could say Canada hadn't taken a balanced view in commission reports when this country had referred to violations by Viet Nam of the Geneva agreement establishing the truce.

He said "most officers" who served on the three commissions in Indochina did great service to their country and the cause of peace.

At the city hall on John F. Kennedy Square, she told West army soldiers at the Soviet War Memorial. She did not enter East Berlin.

INSPIRATION
About 500,000 West Berliners lined the route of her six-hour visit behind the iron curtain to give the British monarch the most enthusiastic greeting of her 11-day tour of West Germany, which ends at Hamburg today.

Island Scientist Helps Solve Satellite Problem

By DAVE MCINTOSH
OTTAWA (CP)—Two young Canadian scientists have solved the problem of why the American Echo II satellite spins and thereby may have exerted enormous influence on the future United States program for space platforms.

The defence research board scientists, John Mar, 32, of Port Alberni and Ottawa, and Frank Vigneron, 25, of Eston, Sask., said Thursday in an interview that their solution may also be a possible explanation for the origin of the spin of the planets.

Other officials said their solution, presented to an international symposium in Paris last month, has caused a minor sensation among space scientists, including Russians and Americans. They said U.S. scientists had been baffled by the problem for three years since Echo II, a satellite balloon 135 feet in diameter, was launched.

In short, the two Canadians found that solar radiation pressure caused the balloon to bulge at the point where the sunlight struck it. This caused it to rotate. As the spin accelerated, the temperature on the entire surface of the satellite evened out. Eddy currents were set up which gradually slowed the spin.

Solar radiation then came into play again and the spin accelerated again. And so on.

'Instant Municipality' Kelsey Bay's Objective

Kelsey Bay Thursday became the fifth north Island area to seek "instant municipal" status, it was confirmed here Thursday by Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell.

The others are Port Hardy, Port McNeill, Gold River and Port Alice.

Construction within three of the "instant municipalities" is advancing rapidly.

In Port Hardy work has begun on the first 15 homes on the MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River subdivision, with contractors Dawson Homes Ltd., of Vancouver hoping to have them completed within three months.

Contractors G. W. Ledingham Ltd. expect to have their roads, water and sewer mains completed in two weeks.

Port McNeill residents have written a series of questions to Mr. Campbell concerning the formation of their municipality.

It is reported that Port Alice will be issued with letters patent on June 15.

Gold River Pollution Survey

They'll Dye Waters Red To Test Tidal Currents

GOLD RIVER—Extensive dye-testing of river and tidal currents will be carried out Monday or Tuesday, depending on the weather, at the mouth of Gold River, site of the Tahsis Company Ltd.'s new $60,000,000 pulp mill development.

The tests are being undertaken to help design the safest and most efficient system of disposing of pollutants that remain in the pulp mill's waste when it goes into production.

Company officials say the mill's waste will be exceptionally clean, due to pollution control facilities at each stage of the production process.

The tests will provide more clues in the Tahsis Company's quest for ways of preventing the mill's operation from interfering with Gold River's famous salmon run.

The tests will help fix the exact location and depth of the outfall for wastes, planned for location in Mucklet Arm on the far side of a headland from the mill site and river mouth.

A bright red rhodamine dye will be released in the mouth of Gold River on both flood and ebb tides.

Spotters in a helicopter will report on the dye's distribution and on the progress of floats to measure the water currents at various depths.

Second Ski Tow For Mt. Becher

COURTENAY—Mount Becher Ski-Development Society has announced plans to construct a second rope tow to be placed approximately 100 yards southeast of the present rope tow and T-bar ski lift.

An immediate start will be made on stump clearing in an additional 22-acre site, with part of the cleared land to be used for the proposed second rope tow.

Members also decided to start immediately selling more shares in the ski development society to finance the two proposed projects.

Both developments are considered "very necessary in view of the large number of skiers last winter."

Chairman George Hamilton and Bob McPhee will meet officials of the department of highways to learn the extent of improvements planned for the Forbidden Plateau Road.

The meeting also learned that the E & N Railway has approved in principle the society's application to start clearing for the planned extension of the T-bar.

DUNCAN—Another "vicious act" of vandalism at the city of Duncan's newest water pump house on McKinstry Street has delayed the start of a 2,000-gallons-per-minute pump scheduled to begin operation Monday.

As a result all vehicular traffic to nearby Rotary Park was halted Wednesday afternoon.

Ald. Hamish Mutter said vandals broke a part of one of the transformers and although damage was not too extensive the operation start would have to be postponed for "a few days."

DISGUSTING—These acts of vicious vandalism are absolutely disgusting and it is not the first time the McKinstry pump house has been hit by hoodlums who seem to have no conscience," Ald. Mutter said.

Vandals previously smashed the pump house door twice and broke the power meter several times.

Ald. Mutter said vandalism "has been around us for the past year or so but now it's in Duncan and stern action will be taken."

DIESEL MOTORS—With the new $70,000 pump house at McKinstry Street which houses Duncan's second well, the entire Duncan water system will be fed from wells and water from the Cowichan River will only be used in an emergency.

Ald. Mutter said that for the first time the entire system is equipped with auxiliary diesel motors which will be used whenever a power failure occurs.

SECURITY FENCE—He said city council is considering building a high security fence around the McKinstry Street pump house to deter future vandalism.

Because there is a high voltage involved, "any interference by hoodlums could be disastrous," he said.

Marchers Prove Peaceful

No attempt was made by Comox-bound peace marchers to interfere with traffic entering or leaving the provincial government fallout shelter at Nanaimo Army Camp Thursday. Post Office

Chemainus Action Promised

NORTH COWICHAN—Action on a new post office at Chemainus can be expected within a reasonable time, Reeve Donald Morton told council at this week's meeting.

Reporting on his recent visit to Quebec with other municipal officials from British Columbia, Reeve Morton said that through the assistance of Colin Cameron, MP for Nanaimo-Cowichan and the Islands, he had met Postmaster-General Rene Tremblay in Ottawa.

Mr. Tremblay had assured him action could be expected within a reasonable time.

Referring to a request for a breakwater at Chemainus, the reeve said there was no opposition to this project "except for the cost" and in general officials at Ottawa agreed a floating breakwater would be cheaper.

At Ladysmith

Builders Ready For Motel

LADYSMITH—Council has received a letter from Anglo-American Builders in Vancouver saying the firm is willing to start building a $700,000 motor hotel immediately after it has bought suitable property and obtained title.

William Smith, representative of the Vancouver firm, said there appeared to be a suitable site on the Trans-Canada Highway for the five-storey motor hotel.

Council will advise the firm it will be pleased to meet company officials to discuss the matter.

NO SERVICE—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Duncan wrote council saying the branch there was unable to extend service to Ladysmith but service might be obtained from the SPCA in Nanaimo. Council will write the Nanaimo unit.

No decision was made after council received a quotation from the Vancouver firm of Rawson and Williams of between $2,000 and $3,500 a year for town planning services. Council will await a quote from another company.

UNTIDY PROPERTY

Council gave approval to an untidy properties bylaw which if violated will mean a warning the first time and a maximum fine of $100 or six months in jail on conviction the second time.

Mayor Kathleen Grouhel appointed Aldermen Bernard Churchill, Robert Sullin and public works foreman Jack Thompson to a committee to meet with North Oyster representatives to investigate location of a garbage dump. Mayor Grouhel emphasized council had no immediate plans to use an old gravel pit in the North Oyster area.

GRADERS PRICED

No decision was made on the acquisition of a new or second-hand grader after quotations were given by public works committee chairman Ald. Churchill.

Price of a 1950 grader was $13,000; a 1947 model could be had for $12,500; a much smaller 1961 model would cost $9,500 and a brand-new grader was priced at $27,500.

Nanaimo Workshop Told

Mental Health Centres Face Staff Shortages

NANAIMO—Health Minister Martin said the establishment of a regional mental health clinic at Kelowna has seen admissions to Esmondale from that area reduced by 50 per cent.

Mr. Martin was speaking at a mental health workshop at Nanaimo Thursday.

He said a similar regional mental health clinic is ready to open at Prince George but that there is "the usual difficulty" in obtaining a psychiatrist and staff.

"There is an urgent need for this type of service because of the exploding population there," he said. "The boom is titanic in proportion."

Such centres are in operation at Nanaimo, Kelowna and Trail and are being planned for Chilliwack and Kamloops.

"These centres will be set up as rapidly as possible."

He said a modern intensive treatment psychiatric hospital will be built on property adjacent to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The property was purchased for $250,000 after a "nail-biting" delay of two years. The estimated cost of the building is $3,500,000.

A 600-bed unit for retarded children has been started in the Saanich area and work is progressing on an addition to Tranquille which will increase the number of beds there by 104 to a total of 560.

He said he is convinced the federal government is moving toward including mental health coverage in existing health insurance services.

Squire

For Rezoning

Council Seeks Advice

PORT ALBERNI—City council will seek advice of a professional town planner to consider two applications for rezoning.

The two applications were deferred pending discussion with planner Arthur Murdy who is expected in the city shortly.

Mr. Murdy will be asked for advice about the application for rezoning from residential to multiple-dwelling use for six lots north of Bruce Street between 12th Avenue and Anderson, and for rezoning from residential to commercial use of property on the northwest corner of Argyle Street and 18th Avenue.

ROW HOUSES

William Holz of Vancouver, speaking in support of his plan for building maisonette-type apartments on Bruce Street, agreed that his application might be a matter for a town planner's consideration but emphasized the proposed project would not detract from the area.

His plans call for 25 suites, with seven of them providing three-bedroom accommodation, around a central garden and perhaps a swimming pool.

Ald. Howard McLean suggested that if the rezoning were permitted there was a possibility of the entire front of Bruce Street becoming an apartment area.

OPPOSITION—Clerk-controller Dennis Thain told council nine acceptable names had been included on a petition against the rezoning.

There was no protest against William E. Tuttle's application for the area at 18th and Argyle, but council shelved the bid at this time to seek Mr. Murdy's advice.

Several council members expressed unwillingness to approve rezoning of such a large area—10 acres—without professional advice.

An application was approved permitting the zoning bylaw to be amended to legalize a suite built some time ago at 218 11th Ave. South.

Camp 10 Road To Close On Saturday

CAMPBELL RIVER—Elk River Timber Company's private road through Strathcona Park to Camp 10 will be closed to all traffic from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

The road is the first in a series of private logging roads giving access to Gold River, the Nimpkish Valley and the north Island.

The closure is to allow repairs to the Canyon Bridge, about half way between the trestle crossing at Upper Campbell Lake and Camp 10.

For Bypass Access to Interior

Bute Inlet Route Pushed

NANAIMO—An immediate start should be made in planning an outlet from the interior of the province through Bute Inlet to Vancouver, an Island NDP candidate said in Nanaimo Wednesday.

Neville Shanks, NDP provincial candidate for Comox constituency, was speaking at a meeting of the party's Nanaimo constituency club.

"The big traffic tie-up at Hope last weekend was an other sign that it is a mistake to try to pour everything into the Vancouver area," he said.

"Feasibility of the Bute Inlet proposal was recognized by Sandford Fleming nearly 100 years ago when he conducted the survey of a route for the CPR. It was a tossup in Fleming's mind as to which route was best and the fact that the Fraser River route was chosen does not mean that it is the only practical choice," Mr. Shanks said.

The mouth of Bute Inlet lies roughly east of Campbell River.

He told NDP Club members the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island agreed at their annual meeting this spring to set up a committee to study the Bute Inlet proposal but "it isn't a job that can be done by amateurs. It can only be done through the resources of the government."

He suggested the connection between the mainland and Vancouver Island could be either by ferry or by a system of bridges or tunnels across the short distances between the many small islands which lie in the gap.

He said: "There are many places on the west coast of the Island suitable for a deep-sea port and with the development of trade with the Orient, huge savings could be made by having a port rather than forcing ships to go around into Vancouver."

Phone Tolls Hit

PORT McNEILL—Removal of long distance telephone charges between all north Island points was urged here at a meeting of the Alert Bay, Sointula, Port Hardy and Port McNeill Chambers of Commerce.

The meeting also asked for direct surface mail service with Campbell River and points south.

The group will ask the provincial government for an operating subsidy for the coast ferries service from Kelsey Bay.

Gilbert Popovich of Alert Bay board of trade pointed out that completion of the Kelsey Bay-Beaver Cove Road was at least four years away.

Happy May Day

Queen Darlene Reigns at Fulford

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD — A sunny day, a crowd of 500 Islanders and visitors, and a final sum of approximately $450, crowned May Day festivities on Salt Spring

Island with excitement and success May 24.

Sponsored by Fulford Athletic Club, the day began with a parade which stretched from the corner by the Fulford Drive Inn to the Fulford Hall.

RCMP Cpl. F. C. Rhodes, with the police car escort, sirens and flashing red light, led the colorful parade.

The May Queen's float, a symphony of blues, white and silver, the work of Miss Gwen Ruckie and helper, Mrs. H. Kyler, was escorted by the smart Sea Scouts, followed by the Cub Scouts and the members of the Salt Spring Lions' Pioneer Village, the Rod and Gun Club, the F.A.C., the firemen's float and fire truck, Captain W. Cogswell on his decorated scooter and his lovely float with the Salt Spring sunbathing beauties, and finally, Debby Cruickshank with her cart pulled by a large dog. Judges were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Alton.

The children's parade started neaper Shaw's field, where the parade ended for the crowning of Queen Darlene Marcotte, by last year's queen Pixie Thorburn.

Queen Darlene thanked her sponsor, Larry Cruickshank, and the Fulford Athletic Club, "for giving me the chance to be a May Queen and making this one of the happiest days of my life. I will try to be worthy of the great honor."

Princesses for Queen Darlene were Linda Inglin and Gillian Smith. Flower girl was tiny Denise Kyler and crown bearer was Wade Faganello. The new queen received the silver cup and all the royal party received gifts.

Prize winning floats were: best decorated, The Waggon Wheels Square Dancers; best original, Fulford Athletic Club; best comic, RSMP "Royal Salt-spring Mounted Police."

On the field were sports of all kinds, horse-back rides for the youngsters, with Mike Byron's horses, and hot dogs sold by the hundreds by Mr. and Mrs. Art Moulton and young helpers, including Mrs. Ellen Bennett.

Inside the Fulford Hall a home cooking stall did a quick business and Mrs. A. House at the door sold $91 worth of tea tickets. The tea was in charge of Mrs. Bev Gibson and her many helpers.

Winners in the children's parade were: Best decorated bicycle—Sharon Barber, Betty Albrecht, Margaret Macdonald, Dorothy Macdonald, Gordie Lee, Philip Kyler, Don Macdonald, Andrea Simard, Catherine—Kathy Gibson, Buddy Dunlop, Barbara Mainwaring, Celine—Ricky Jacobson, Renee Jacobson, Original—Juan Lowe, Denise Evans, Specialty—Juan Lucas, Michael Evans and Glen Jacobson.

Best couple—Perry Lucas and Kathy Ramsey, Kelly Green and Janine McLean. Judging the children were Mrs. Daisy Goss, Mrs. Pat McLean and Mrs. Fred Liddington.

Chemainus

Up-Island Crash Kills City Man

A Victoria driver was killed late Thursday when his car went out of control on the Trans-Canada Highway at the intersection of the Chemainus and Somenos Roads.

Leo Robert Marceau, 25, of 3572 Tillicum Road, was thrown 12 feet from his car after it struck a guard rail, bounced off a concrete abutment and cleared out a guard rail on a bridge between Chemainus and Duncan.

Chemainus RCMP said the car travelled about 500 feet, ending up by slamming into a pole.

This stretch of highway was limited to single-lane traffic due to construction.

Mr. Marceau was alone in the car travelling south from Crofton pulp mill.

He is survived by a wife and one child.

Time of the accident was about 11:40 p.m.

Both victims—Clifford Racicot, 34, and 20-year-old cashier Lisa Paquette—were reported in critical condition Thursday night.

The bandits scooped some $3,000 from the till and escaped through a line of armed police holding Miss Paquette and the credit union manager, Claude Potras, as hostages.

The Quebec Provincial Police holdup squad had been tipped that a holdup in suburban St. Leonard de Port Maurice was planned and were on the scene quickly when the alarm sounded.

The robbers, armed with two machine-guns and two pistols, left one of their number in a car outside the credit union and posted another at the door.

Two then entered and the staff was told to sit on the floor. They scooped up $3,000 from the till.

Meantime, outside, Quebec Provincial Police had arrived after one of the tellers tripped the alarm.

Berlin's Thousands Roar Royal Welcome

Pope Plans Poland Visit First Trip to Red State

WARSAW (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will visit Poland next year to help celebrate the millennium of Polish Roman Catholicism, church sources said Thursday.

The sources said the Pope will arrive in Poland May 3, 1966, and will visit Poland's Roman Catholic shrine of Czestochowa. It would be the first visit by any Pope to a Communist country.

BERLIN (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II got a roaring welcome to West Berlin Thursday. She took a look at the Communist wall dividing East and West Berlin and as thousands cheered pledged British support for West Berliners.

About 500,000 West Berliners lined the route of her six-hour visit behind the Iron curtain to give the British monarch the most enthusiastic greeting of her 11-day tour of West Germany, which ends at Hamburg today.

She drove past the wall and got a smart salute from Red army soldiers at the Soviet War Memorial. She did not enter East Berlin.

INSPIRATION

At the city hall on John F. Kennedy Square, she told West Berliners their courage was "a glowing inspiration to the whole free world."

Cheered by 100,000 people massed in the square where the late U.S. president Kennedy made his famed "I am a Berliner" speech June 26, 1963, she pledged the continuing support of the British government and people for West Berlin's struggle against Communist encroachment.

The Queen said: "Nowhere is the tragedy of a divided world made more evident than in this city."

"The courage and persistence of the people and your tremendous achievements in spite of this situation."

Arabs Reject Israel Talks

Bourguiba Out in Cold

CAIRO (UPI)—Arab League proposals for negotiation with Israel were rejected Thursday by the Arab League.

A spokesman said the pre-President Habib Bourguiba's ministers' conference, which was boycotted by Bourguiba, also announced determination to uphold the resolutions of the two Arab summits calling for the liberation of Palestine.

Informed sources said Syria proposed that Tunisia should not be invited to any future Arab bloc meeting until Bourguiba withdraw his statements. This proposal also was accepted.

Israeli Raiders Hit Three Jordan Towns

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli raiders attacked three Jordanian towns early today in retaliation for alleged "acts of sabotage" on Israel earlier this week.

An Israeli military communique said seven Israeli soldiers were injured when a hand grenade accidentally blew up while the raiding parties were returning to their base.

"Our forces completed the task in three sectors and accomplished their objectives," the communique said.

Dog Downs Helicopter

PORT McNEILL.—A Vancouver helicopter demonstrating a new method of firefighting here was felled by an irate Boxer dog as the craft attempted to land.

In spite of the pilot's efforts to outmanoeuvre the animal, the dog leaped into the air and seized the rear rotor. The crash landing caused about $1,000 damage to the helicopter and the dog lost a few teeth.

Sewage: Raw or Treated?

Stout Defence In Gorge War

Saanich officials Thursday stoutly defended an application to dump treated effluent into Gorge waterway, in the face of strong objections from property-owners.

The debate took place at the annual meeting of Capital Region branch, Community Planning Association.

Reacting to moves by Gorge area residents to have the association support protests against the sewage-dumping, Saanich Coun. Leslie Passmore said:

"It is a choice between allowing untreated sewage from septic tanks to spill into the Gorge, or discharging regulated amounts of treated effluent into the waterway."

A provincial government department has applied for permission to dump 90,000 gallons a day, and Saanich has submitted an application to dump 35,000 gallons a day into the Gorge.

These applications come before the Pollution Control Board this morning. Protests can be made up to June 19.

Said Coun. Passmore: "Saanich has two or three inches of red soil, and then thousands of feet of clay going clear to China."

He said this means raw sewage from septic tanks cannot be absorbed and comes quickly to the surface.

Years of Stinking Ditches

It runs in ditches, flows downhill, and pollutes the Gorge, he told the meeting.

"I've lived through the years of stinking ditches," said Mr. Passmore. "Do we want this, or properly treated effluent disposed of safely in the Gorge?"

David Southall, 321 West Gorge, spokesman for those protesting the applications, said:

"We are alarmed not so much at the fact that effluent is being dumped, but because we have seen no improvement here in years in the way of disposing of sewage."

He said a link between Portage Inlet and Esquimalt Harbor would be an ideal plan.

"We are concerned about property values. The Gorge area is important to every resident of Victoria as a recreation spot."

One property-owner said he would try to get a court injunction to stop dumping of effluent if the applications are approved.

The association decided to hold a full-scale debate on the subject at a public meeting soon.

Earlier Thursday, F. T. Worth, 2875 Ashley, charged that Portage Inlet residents are being deliberately worn down in their efforts to protect waters near their homes from sewage.

"We fought this battle in 1962," he said. "We fought this battle in 1964."

"And now we're being forced to fight it again."

"The first application was in 1962, when Saanich wanted to

'Flying Lab' Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The federal space agency Thursday night called off plans to shoot a "physics lab" satellite into orbit today. The shot was rescheduled for Saturday.

A space agency spokesman said the launching, which earlier had been advanced from June 2, simply could not be readied in time.

Martin Says Viet Nam Critic Failed to Get Big Picture

OTTAWA (CP)—Criticism by a former air force officer of Canada's role in Viet Nam may have arisen from his "relatively junior" post on the international truce supervisory commission, External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday.

Laurentide Out Again

OTTAWA (CP)—For the third time this session, legislation to incorporate the Laurentide Bank of Canada was talked out Thursday in the Commons in the hour set aside for private members' bills.

Canada showed favoritism to the United States in its role on the commission. He served in Viet Nam in 1961 and 1962.

Mr. Martin said that "within the provisions of the Official Secrets Act" there is no objection to former officers stating their personal views.

However, he found it hard to see how anyone could say Canada hadn't taken a balanced view in commission reports when this country had referred to violations by Viet Nam of the Geneva agreement establishing the truce.

He said "most officers" who served on the three commissions in Indochina did great service to their country and the cause of peace.

Island Scientist Helps Solve Satellite Problem

By DAVE MCINTOSH
OTTAWA (CP)—Two young Canadian scientists have solved the problem of why the American Echo II satellite spins and thereby may have exerted enormous influence on the future United States program for space platforms.

The defence research board scientists, John Mar, 32, of Port Alberni and Ottawa, and Frank Vigneron, 25, of Eston, Sask., said Thursday in an interview that their solution may also be a possible explanation for the origin of the spin of the planets.

"Nowhere is the tragedy of a divided world made more evident than in this city."

"The courage and persistence of the people and your tremendous achievements in spite of this situation."

applied a known principle of solar radiation pressure of figure out the reason for Echo II's spinning.

Other officials said their solution, presented to an international symposium in Paris last month, has caused a minor sensation among space scientists, including Russians and Americans. They said U.S. scientists had been baffled by the problem for three years since Echo II, a satellite balloon 135 feet in diameter, was launched.

In short, the two Canadians found that solar radiation pressure caused the balloon to bulge at the point where the sunlight struck it. This caused it to rotate. As the spin accelerated, the temperature on the entire surface of the satellite evened out. Eddy currents were set up which gradually slowed the spin.

Solar radiation then came into play again and the spin accelerated again. And so on.

Bandits Flee Through Police Line

MONTREAL (CP)—An unarmed passerby was shot in the stomach and a girl cashier suffered a fractured skull from the blows of revolver butts during the brutal armed robbery of a suburban caisse populaire (credit union) Thursday by four armed and hooded men.

Up-Island Crash Kills City Man

A Victoria driver was killed late Thursday when his car went out of control on the Trans-Canada Highway at the intersection of the Chemainus and Somenos Roads.

Leo Robert Marceau, 26, of 3572 Tillicum Road, was thrown 12 feet from his car after it struck a guard rail, bounced off a concrete abutment and ended up on a guard rail on a bridge between Chemainus and Duncan.

Chemainus RCMP said the car travelled about 500 feet, ending up by slamming into a pole.

This stretch of highway was limited to single-lane traffic due to construction.

Mr. Marceau was alone in the car traveling south from Crofton pulp mill.

He is survived by a wife and one child.

Time of the accident was about 11:40 p.m.

Both victims Clifford Racicot, 54, and 20-year-old cashier Lise Paquette — were reported in critical condition Thursday night.

The bandits scooped some $3,000 from the till and escaped through a line of armed police holding Miss Paquette and the credit union manager, Claude Potras, as hostages.

The Quebec Provincial Police holdup squad had been tipped that a holdup in suburban St. Leonard de Port Maurice was planned and were on the scene quickly when the alarm sounded.

The robbers, armed with two machine-guns and two pistols, left one of their number in a car outside the credit union and posted another at the door.

Two then entered and the staff was told to sit on the floor. They scooped up $3,000 from the till.

Meantime, outside, Quebec Provincial Police had arrived after one of the tellers tripped the alarm.

Shots apparently were exchanged.

Berlin's Thousands Roar Royal Welcome

Pope Plans Poland Visit First Trip to Red State

WARSAW (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will visit Poland next year to help celebrate the millennium of Polish Roman Catholicism, church sources said Thursday.

The sources said the Pope will arrive in Poland May 3, 1966, and will visit Poland's Roman Catholic shrine of Czestochova. It would be the first visit by any Pope to a Communist country.

BERLIN (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II got a roaring welcome to West Berlin Thursday. She took a look at the Communist wall dividing East and West Berlin and as thousands cheered pledged British support for West Berliners.

About 500,000 West Berliners lined the route of her six-hour visit behind the iron curtain to give the British monarch the most enthusiastic greeting of her 11-day tour of West Germany, which ends at Hamburg today.

She drove past the wall and got a smart salute from Red army soldiers at the Soviet War Memorial. She did not enter East Berlin.

INSPIRATION
At the city hall on John F. Kennedy Square, she told West Berliners their courage was "a glowing inspiration to the whole free world."

Cheered by 100,000 people massed in the square where the late U.S. president Kennedy made his famed "I am a Berliner" speech June 26, 1963, she pledged the continuing support of the British government and people for West Berlin's struggle against Communist encroachment.

The Queen said: "Nowhere is the tragedy of a divided world made more evident than in this city."

"The courage and persistence of the people and your tremendous achievements in spite of the cause of peace."

Arabs Reject Israel Talks

Bourguiba Out in Cold

CAIRO (UPI)—Arab League proposals for negotiation with Israel were rejected Thursday by President Habib Bourguiba's conference, which was boycotted by Bourguiba, also announced determination to uphold the resolutions of the two past Arab summit calling for the liberation of Palestine.

Israeli Raiders Hit Three Jordan Towns

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli raiders attacked three Jordan towns early today in retaliation for alleged "acts of sabotage" on Israel earlier this week. An Israeli military communique said seven Israeli soldiers were injured when a hand grenade accidentally blew up while the raiding parties were returning to their base. "Our forces completed the task in three sectors and accomplished their objectives," the communique said.

boycotted by Bourguiba, also announced determination to uphold the resolutions of the two past Arab summit calling for the liberation of Palestine.

Informed sources said Syria proposed that Tunisia should not be invited to any future Arab bloc meeting until Bourguiba withdraw his statements. This proposal also was accepted.

EXPULSION ASKED
Earlier, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization asked the premiers to expel Tunisia from the Arab League. Ahmed Shukeiry called for Tunisia's expulsion "in order to protect the Palestine cause from the absurdities of 'deviation.'"

DHANBAD, India (Reuters) — More than 300 coal miners were feared to have been killed in a pit explosion about 60 miles from here Thursday night.

Saanich Defends Gorge Sewage Bid

Saanich officials Thursday stoutly defended an application to dump treated effluent into Gorge waterway, in the face of strong objections from property-owners.

The debate took place at the annual meeting of Capital Region branch, Community Planning Association.

Reacting to moves by Gorge area residents to have the association support protests against the sewage-dumping, Saanich Coun. Leslie Passmore said:

"It is a choice between allowing untreated sewage from septic tanks to spill into the Gorge, or discharging regulated amounts of treated effluent into the waterway."

A provincial government department has applied for permission to dump 90,000 gallons a day, and Saanich has resubmitted an application to dump 35,000 gallons a day into the Gorge.

These applications come before the Pollution Control Board this morning. Protests can be made up to June 19.

Said Coun. Passmore: "Saanich has two or three inches of red soil, and then thousands of feet of clay going clear to China."

He said this means raw sewage from septic tanks cannot be absorbed and comes quickly to the surface.

It runs in ditches, flows downhill, and pollutes the Gorge, he told the meeting.

"I've lived through the years of stinking ditches," said Mr. Passmore. "Do we want this, or properly treated effluent disposed of safely in the Gorge?"

David Southall, 321 West Gorge, spokesman for those protesting the applications, said:

"We are alarmed not so much at the fact that effluent is being dumped, but because we have seen no improvement here in years in the way of disposing of sewage."

One property-owner said he would try to get a court injunction to stop dumping of effluent if the applications are approved.

Earlier Thursday, F. T. Worth, 2675 Ashley, charged that Portage Inlet residents are being deliberately worn down in their efforts to protect waters near their homes from sewage.

"We fought this battle in 1962," he said. "We fought this battle in 1964."

"And now we're being forced to fight it again."

"The first application was in 1962, when Saanich wanted to dump effluent into the Gorge."

Warren Out, Times Stays Daily

VANCOUVER (CP) — William Val Warren said early today he is stepping down as president of the Times and discontinuing his shares. His statement meant he would lose control over the company he was instrumental in creating.

He also confirmed reports late Thursday that the newspaper would remain in daily operation. He did not elaborate.

Japan's West Next Stop

The mission is headed by Premier Bennett.

The group will visit steel and shipbuilding sites in Osaka and four ancient temples in the former Japanese capital of Kyoto. They will return to Tokyo May 31.

Water Tested

Water at Greater Victoria beaches is being sampled to determine pollution level.

This sampling will take in all local popular swimming beaches, according to Elwood Gripp, director of sanitation services of the Metropolitan Health Board.

Martin Says Viet Nam Critic Failed to Get Big Picture

OTTAWA (CP) — Criticism by a former air force officer of Canada's role in Viet Nam may have arisen from his "relatively junior" post on the international truce supervisory commission, External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday.

He told the Commons that former Squadron Leader H. H. Campbell, now civil defense coordinator of Campbell River, may not have formed a "comprehensive view" of the work of the commission manned by Canada, India and Poland.

Mr. Martin was responding to a request from Social Credit Leader Thompson to give an answer to statements by Mr. Campbell that Canada took a weak-kneed and jelly-spined stand on the commission.

Mr. Campbell charged that Canada hadn't taken a balanced view in commission reports when this country had referred to violations by Viet Nam of the Geneva agreement establishing the truce.

He said "most officers" who served on the three commissions in Indochina did great service to their country and the cause of peace.
